BELGRADE, Aug. 23.—Yugoslav army commanders were under strict orders from Marshal Tito today to stop shooting at U. S. planes, whether military or civilian.

U. S. Ambassador Richard C. Patterson, who delivered a Washington ultimatum on the forcing of two American planes on Aug. 9 and 10, told newsmen Tito has promised to "give satisfaction."

Patterson asked specifically what future procedure would be in the case of U. S. planes flying over Yugoslavia "without clearance." He inquired if such planes might also expect to be shot down. Tito answered:

Orders Not To Fire

"No. I have given the strictest orders to the Yugoslav Fourth Army commanders not to fire on foreign planes, civilian or military. The procedure is not to be repeated."

Shortly after Tito made this statement, dispatches from Trieste indicated a possible new incident involving an attack on a U. S. Army vehicle near Caporetto, Italy, close to the Yugoslav border.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—The recently-concluded atomic bomb tests at Bikini demonstrate clearly the terrible, even horrifying power of this new weapon of warfare.

I have received the impression upon my return to the United States that there has been a tendency to play down the importance of the bomb, to look upon it as just another weapon of war; speculation that perhaps the tests were a failure and the bomb was not such a terrible weapon.

In No Sense Failures

My conclusions are exactly the opposite. The tests at Bikini were in no sense failures. Both clearly demonstrated the terrible destructive powers of the bomb, whether exploded in the air or underwater.

It becomes even more awful in its implications if one visualizes what the effects of the bomb would have been had the ships employed in the tests been manned by human beings.

In that event, the loss of life, in my opinion, would have been tremendous from the blast itself. Further loss of life, with every kind of pain and suffering, would have followed as a result of the radioactivity released by the bombs.

No one can guess at the psychological effect the bomb would have had upon the crews of the ships. As to what might have followed if the ships had been manned, I think the ships had been manned, I think

HUNTINGDON, Pa., Aug. 23.—(INS)—Funeral services will be held today for two-year-old Barbara Jane Plank of Rockhill Furnace, found dead of suffocation in her crib under circumstances which lead Huntingdon county authorities to believe the child was murdered.

A three-state police search was intensified for Mrs. Frances Plank, 28, mother of the child who has been missing from her home since August 4.

Mrs. Plank was sought for questioning in connection with the death of the child into whose mouth a sleeve-length black glove had been crammed with such force as to tear the tissue at the base of the tongue from the mouth, authorities said.

I. Newton Taylor, Huntingdon county district attorney, has branded the death "a clear case of murder."

County Coroner E. Blair Shore said the glove had been identified by the child's father, James F. Plank, as belonging to Mrs. Plank. The other glove has not been found. Shore said.

Services for the child will be held at 2:30 p. m. in the Richvale Methodist church. The planks have four other children.

Moscow Radio Says Yugoslavia Makes Protest

LONDON, Aug. 23.—(INS)—The Moscow radio said today that Yugoslavia has carried a protest against the United States to the United Nations, demanding return of vessels reportedly held by the American army in the upper Danube.

The Soviet broadcast charged the United States with "unjustified retention" of the ships. It said a Yugoslav delegate to the UN economic and social council has handed the note of protest to Tigray Lie, secretary general of the United Nations.

Several months ago the U. S. seized a number of vessels on the Danube in retaliation for Soviet refusal to open the waters of the river to all nations. A number of black-market operators were discovered using these ships as their headquarters.

Services for the child will be held at 2:30 p. m. in the Richvale Methodist church. The planks have four other children.

Yugoslavia's Back-Track Leaves Action Before Council In Doubt

SITUATION SEEN SOMEWHAT EASED

By GEORGE DURNO
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Yugoslavia's sudden back-track left the United States somewhat undecided today concerning the advisability of making a major issue before the United Nations security council over the shooting down of two American transport planes and subsequent treatment of all left alive aboard.

Marshal Tito's action in releasing seven Americans and two Hungarians on the first U. S. plane forced down by Yugoslav fighters somewhat eased a situation which had threatened a final show-down in the world arena.

The Plaingrove Presbyterian church was organized in 1799, and is thought to be the oldest church organization in Northwestern Pennsylvania. The first house of worship was a crude log structure, 30 by 25 feet, erected in 1800, with a seating capacity of 150. It had greased paper windows, puncheon seats, an earthen floor, and a roof of clapboards.

The second building was also a log structure, built in 1805, with a

Neal street, Taylor street, and Butler avenue extension resurfacing was completed yesterday and the route was opened to traffic today after members of council rode over the improved route, about 3,800 feet long.

The route is known as Spur 78 of Route 422 and will divert considerable traffic which now flows east and west and vice versa through East Washington street.

Traffic flowing south through Mill street can reach the by-pass via Grove street, and coming west, through Butler avenue extension. South traffic may also travel through South Jefferson street thence east through Croton avenue extension or the old Rosene turnpike, which is an improved route.

Despite Dr. Lange's political alliance with Russia and Yugoslavia, the American delegation was confident he would have the customary three days for circulation of a new agenda and call the council into "urgent session" not later than Monday or Tuesday.

JERUSALEM, Aug. 23.—(INS)—British troops poured into Haifa's port area today to foil any Zionist attempt to liberate 615 refugees now on vessels lying at anchor in the harbor.

Extraordinary security measures were taken to avoid extremist action against port installations in follow-up raids to the bombing of the transport Empire Rival.

Immobilization of the Rival by Marshal Tito's action in releasing seven Americans and two Hungarians on the first U. S. plane was viewed in London today as the start of a "toughening-up" period in Anglo-American diplomatic relations with Russia and other eastern powers.

Yugoslavia's Back-Track Leaves Action Before Council In Doubt

SITUATION SEEN SOMEWHAT EASED

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—Yugoslavia's sudden back-track left the United States somewhat undecided today concerning the advisability of making a major issue before the United Nations security council over the shooting down of two American transport planes and subsequent imprisonment of all left alive aboard.

Marshal Tito's action in releasing seven Americans and two Hungarians on the first U. S. plane forced down by Yugoslav fighters somewhat eased a situation which had threatened a final showdown in the world arena.

Partially Meets Ultimatum

This gesture partially met Washington's 48-hour ultimatum for satiation.

It was noteworthy, however, that five U. S. fliers shot down last Monday are still unaccounted for.

Both Herschel Johnson, U. S. deputy on the security council, and Dr. Oscar Lange of Poland, current president of the council, were in Washington, conferring with Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson.

The 48-hour deadline will expire tomorrow. It was certain that unless Belgrade had completely complied with Washington's demands by that time that the United States would ask the UN security council to arbitrate the matter.

Political circles were particularly impressed with a Belgrade dispatch to the London News Chronicle quoting U. S. Ambassador Richard C. Patterson as warning Yugoslavia will not get another "nickel's worth" of American aid except "over my dead body."

Patterson was said to have followed up his threat by informing UNRRA officials he intends to use all his influence to cut off UNRRA supplies to Yugoslavia.

Diplomatic observers predicted that Britain's next "tough" move might be reflected in renewed efforts to secure an investigation into German manufacturing.

They cited reports that Russia is manufacturing arms and parts for V-weapons in Germany in violation of the Potsdam agreements.

An editorial in the London Times, meanwhile, said Marshal Tito was "wise" to release the interned American airmen. It added:

"With the immediate objective of the American note achieved, it remains to sort out the rights and wrongs of a situation in which allies were brought to bitter exchanges because one cannot tolerate the passage of the other's unarmed aircraft."

The conception of sovereignty which excluded such an arrangement between two allies is old fashioned."

Congressmen In Favor Of Stand On Yugoslavia

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—(INS)—Members of Congress gave whole-hearted support today to the firm stand taken by the state department in the dispute with Yugoslavia. Strong resentment was voiced on Capitol Hill against both Yugoslavia and Russia, but general consensus was that the United States did the right thing in announcing a recourse to the United Nations security council if necessary rather than to military force.

One senator privately expressed the opinion that "it might be a good idea if we dropped an atomic bomb on them", but his views were not echoed by his colleagues, although several expressed the view that further relief and other assistance from this country should be halted.

Yugoslavia Acts Foolish

There was a tendency among members of Congress to regard Yugoslavia as acting "foolish", without minimizing, however, the importance of Russia in the dispute over the shooting down of two unarmed American planes by Yugoslav fighters. Sen. Overton (D) La., commented dryly about "a little dog barking at us."

Rep. Bloom (D) N. Y., chairman of the House foreign affairs committee suggested another meeting of the big three—President Truman, Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Atlee.

Bloom said he was not worried about the possibility of war, but expressed anxiety that the dispute may set a pattern for trouble and unrest all over the world.

Bloom asserted that Russia held a key position in the present international unrest and could make a tremendous contribution toward peace if it wished. He said:

Russia Could Stop Fighting

"Russia could stop all this fighting in China and Yugoslavia over night by telling those people that these things must be settled in the proper way and through proper procedures."

Sen. Kildore (D) W. Va. took the most alarming view among members on Capitol Hill. He declared that the strained relations "may lead to war" and said the United States may regret its hasty demobilization.

Kildore suggested that perhaps it might be wise to provide American fighter escorts for unarmed planes and "bombard" the Yugoslav people by shortwave radio.

Sen. Hatch (D) N. M., a member of the Senate foreign relations committee, commented that "while this can lead to war, I believe it will be settled peacefully by diplomatic means."

Hatch declared that American recourse to the security council would provide a "showdown" on whether Russia intends to support the new peace machinery established after World War II.

CITY HALL EMPLOYEES GUESTS AT OUTING

Mayor John F. Haven and members of city council yesterday gave an outing to city hall employees. More than a score were present at Silver Heights golf course.

During the afternoon teams were formed and nine holes of golf were played, followed by contests in putting. After golfing they enjoyed a delicious chicken dinner. Group singing followed the dinner which was served by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Haycock.

Congressmen In Favor Of Stand On Yugoslavia

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—(INS)—Members of Congress gave whole-hearted support today to the firm stand taken by the state department in the dispute with Yugoslavia. Strong resentment was voiced on capitol hill against both Yugoslavia and Russia, but general consensus was that the United States did the right thing in announcing a recourse to the United Nations security council if necessary rather than to military force.

One senator privately expressed the opinion that "it might be a good idea if we dropped an atomic bomb on them" but his views were not echoed by his colleagues, although several expressed the view that further relief and other assistance from this country should be halted.

Yugoslavia Acts Foolish

It was a tendency among members of Congress to regard Yugoslavia as acting "foolish," without minimizing, however, the importance of Russia in the dispute over the shooting down of two unarmed American planes by Yugoslav fighters. Sen. Overton (D) La., commented dryly about "a little dog barking at us."

Rep. Bloom (D) N. Y., chairman of the House foreign affairs committee suggested another meeting of the big three—President Truman, Marshal Stalin and Prime Minister Attlee.

Bloom said he was not worried about the possibility of war, but expressed anxiety that the dispute may set a pattern for trouble and unrest all over the world.

Bloom asserted that Russia held a key position in the present international unrest and could make a tremendous contribution toward peace if it wished. He said:

Russia Could Stop Fighting

Sen. Kilgore (D) W. Va., took the most alarming view among members on capitol hill. He declared that the strained relations "may lead to war" and said the United States may regret its hasty mobilization.

Kilgore suggested that perhaps it might be wise to provide American fighter escorts for unarmed planes and "bombard" the Yugoslav people by shortwave radio.

Sen. Hatch (D) N. M., a member of the Senate foreign relations committee, commented that "while this can lead to war, I believe it will be settled peacefully by diplomatic means".

Hatch declared that American recourse to the security council would provide a "showdown" on whether Russia intends to support the new peace machinery established after World War II.

CITY HALL EMPLOYES GUESTS AT OUTING

Mayor John F. Haven and members of city council yesterday gave an outing to city hall employees. More than a score were present at Sylvan Heights golf course.

During the afternoon teams were formed and nine holes of golf were played, followed by contests in putting. After golfing they enjoyed a delicious chicken dinner. Group singing followed the dinner which was served by Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Haycock.

NEW TRAFFIC ROUTE OPENS

At ground at the foot of South Mercer street. The city already has passed legislation locating and establishing such a street across the creek to South Jefferson street.

New Castle Duntile Company had the contract for the improvement and sub-let the black-topping to Kelly & Meyers Company.

Society AND Clubs

FEDERATION CLUB TO BRING PLAY SERIES

During the 1946-47 season, the Federation Junior club plans for the third year in succession to bring to New Castle the Pittsburgh Children's Theatre dramatic productions for children.

Committees of the club are at work on plans for the project, one which received an enthusiastic response from the public the past two seasons.

Mrs. Joseph W. Pearson as general chairman of the play project will be assisted by the following committed chairmen: Petroni, Mrs. Marshall G. Matheny; schools, Mrs. Louis H. Haze; programs, Mrs. Alex J. Brinkko; treasurer, Mrs. Francis J. Baudau; ushers, Mrs. Dorothy Long.

Miss Reba Sines is Federation Junior president.

The play project series will include four productions, three to be plays by the Pittsburgh Children's Theatre and the fourth a production by the Edwin Strawbridge company.

Two of the plays will be presented during the fall, the ballet during the post-holiday season, and the third play in the spring. They will all be given in the senior high school auditorium.

Prizes for games that formed a diversion went to Miss Nancy Aluisia, Miss Agnes Pegato, and Miss Sally McIntyre.

For the evening's diversion the group enjoyed an informal social time and games.

Mrs. Blanche Smith, of Cincinnati, O., Eugene's great aunt, was a special guest. In serving, Mrs. Fleeger was assisted by Mrs. Fred Moser.

Leaves for Florida

Miss Shirley Copper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Copper, 508 Countyline street, left Wednesday morning for Milton, Fla., where she will be the guest of Lt. and Mrs. H. C. Dicks, see Jeannine Copper.

On Saturday evening she was honored at a corn and wiener roast at the home of Mrs. Art Bogaczew, West Washington street, by the members of Circle C of Dept. 46 of the Shenango Pottery, where Miss Copper was employed.

Handkerchief Shower

Mrs. Margaret Palmer was pleasantly surprised in her home on Pearson street on her birthday, August 16, when a group of relatives gathered there.

She was presented with a shower of handkerchiefs and an informal social time followed.

Her daughter, Mrs. Mabel Davis and niece, Miss Almyra Pitts, served refreshments later.

Return from Geneva

Misses Maude Marie and Mervle Ruth Reed of 917 Marshall avenue, Mr. and Mrs. James Pollock and son, Jimmy, of Sharon, and Mr. and Mrs. John B. Walther, 409 East Garfield avenue, have returned from a visit at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett L. Ziegler, at Geneva-On-The-Lake.

DAVIS-HOBAUGH
CHEWTON CEREMONY

At a quiet ceremony performed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Durbin in Chewton on Wednesday evening at 7:30 o'clock Miss Evelyn Grace Hobaugh, daughter of Mrs. Alma Hobaugh, of Baden, became the bride of George Robert Davis, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Davis, of Latrobe.

Rev. Charles P. Durbin, minister of the Chewton Christian church officiated at the single ring ceremony.

Attending the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Ben McFee, of Baden.

After the ceremony a wedding dinner was held at Beaver Falls, after which the couple left for a wedding trip to Lake Erie. Upon return they will reside at the home of the groom's parents.

Mrs. Davis was employed as a telephone operator at the Pennsylvania Railroad Co. in Pittsburgh.

Mr. Davis was discharged from the service in January after serving as G. M. 2 C in the Atlantic and F. T. O. He is employed at the Cement company in Wampum.

HONORS BIRTHDAY
OF MRS. GALLAGHER

Members of the Protected Home Circle Drill team motored to the home of Mrs. Emma Gallagher, Portersville, recently, in honor of her birthday.

For the evening's entertainment the group enjoyed an informal social time with music and dancing.

A dainty luncheon was served by Mrs. Finley Wise and Mrs. Edna Rice.

Special guests were Mrs. Elsie Pilchner and Mary Gurnee.

HILLS THURSDAY

Thursday was Ladies Day at Castle Hills golf course and there was a fine turnout of women for the golf and luncheon with hostesses for the day, Mrs. S. E. Patterson and Mrs. Jeck Smith.

Special event winners last night were: Mrs. Harry Weitlich, and Mrs. S. E. Patterson. The ladies enjoyed golf all afternoon, following a one o'clock luncheon in the clubhouse.

Next Thursday, August 29, the Castle Hills ladies will play their matches at the Ellwood City Country club with a large group expected to attend. The starting time is 10 o'clock, and active hostesses for the day will be Mrs. Charles Ward, Mrs. Harry Weitlich and Mrs. Dorothy Long.

Miss Reba Sines is Federation Junior president.

The play project series will include four productions, three to be plays by the Pittsburgh Children's Theatre and the fourth a production by the Edwin Strawbridge company.

Two of the plays will be presented during the fall, the ballet during the post-holiday season, and the third play in the spring. They will all be given in the senior high school auditorium.

Prizes for games that formed a diversion went to Miss Nancy Aluisia, Miss Agnes Pegato, and Miss Sally McIntyre.

For the evening's diversion the group enjoyed an informal social time and games.

Mrs. Blanche Smith, of Cincinnati, O., Eugene's great aunt, was a special guest.

Leaves for Florida

Miss Shirley Copper, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Copper, 508 Countyline street, left Wednesday morning for Milton, Fla., where she will be the guest of Lt. and Mrs. H. C. Dicks, see Jeannine Copper.

On Saturday evening she was honored at a corn and wiener roast at the home of Mrs. Art Bogaczew, West Washington street, by the members of Circle C of Dept. 46 of the Shenango Pottery, where Miss Copper was employed.

Handkerchief Shower

Mrs. Margaret Palmer was pleasantly surprised in her home on Pearson street on her birthday, August 16, when a group of relatives gathered there.

She was presented with a shower of handkerchiefs and an informal social time followed.

Her daughter, Mrs. Mabel Davis and niece, Miss Almyra Pitts, served refreshments later.

Return from Geneva

Misses Maude Marie and Mervle Ruth Reed of 917 Marshall avenue, Mr. and Mrs. James Pollock and son, Jimmy, of Sharon, and Mr. and Mrs. John B. Walther, 409 East Garfield avenue, have returned from a visit at the cottage of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett L. Ziegler, at Geneva-On-The-Lake.

Stabilizing Wage Dollars

Writing in an official A. F. of L. publication, William Green recently urged the 7,000,000 members of his organization to "stabilize their wage dollars by helping to increase volume of production which can wipe out scarcities and the danger of runaway inflation." An accompanying cartoon drives this thought home with its caption: "Bring prices down by producing the goods!"

If Mr. Green is able to make this message felt he will be doing a signal service for all the American people, as well as union labor. For, as the New York Herald Tribune puts it, "Here in the simplest terms is the fundamental answer to the whole problem of inflation—production." There are, of course, other factors involved, such as excessive government spending which in itself is a strong inflationary influence. But production is at the root of everything.

Our industrial potential is the greatest on earth by a wide margin. We have, in addition, a superbly efficient distribution machine to take the goods to the consumer once the factories produce them. Retailers, led by the big chain organizations, have been a frontline defense against unavoidable price increases. But, until adequate production is resumed, their work can be only partially successful.

Price control by government, at best, is but a temporary and incomplete expedient. Rising prices are the symptoms of inflation—not the cause. If we produce the goods, we will have price stability.

Telepathic Possibilities

Dr. M. F. Daubenbreyer, director of health at the Muscatatuck school who predicts in the Journal of the Indiana State Medical Association that the mental hospital of the future will be an electrical laboratory, also has something to say about the possibilities of telepathy.

"It is logical to assume," he says, "that a brain, similar to a receiving set, in harmony or tune with a brain generating and radiating thought or emotion, might pick up those thought rays or emotional rays radiated into space although the two brains be a far distance apart. In future years when science has unraveled the mysteries of thought energy and emotional energy, telepathy may become a reality."

The possibility that persons who wish to communicate with each other need do no more than have their brains in tune and then project their thoughts, should be of the greatest interest to industries engaged in providing public and private communication. Telephone companies in several large cities are preparing to begin two-way radio telephone serving for persons who wish to keep in touch with their homes or offices while driving about the country. Various police departments have had this service for some time.

No equipment would be required for telepathy, and its use would involve no cost. Perhaps the communication systems will investigate this field and make an effort to assist in its development.

Communist War In China

After 18 years of bloody fighting, either against the Japanese or among themselves, it might be thought that the Chinese had had enough of war. But there is now in prospect for that unhappy nation a conflict which will ravage its lands and torture its people in a degree not heretofore known.

One guess is all that should be required as to where the communists are getting the implements and ammunition to wage war.

All the efforts made by the United States to promote peace have proved futile. When Gen. Pat Hurley resigned as ambassador to China and shocked left-wingers here by the assertions he made, he clearly saw the handwriting on the wall in China.

That the situation holds tragic possibilities for the world can be open to doubt. So long as the war rages in China in the manner now to be expected, all nations must remain uneasy. The East may be far away geographically, but its interests touch those of the United States and Great Britain in a thousand places. With China added to Russia, the red menace would be far greater than it is today.

Americans have sensed this peril from the beginning. Washington has sought to pacify the communists and to persuade Chiang Kai-Shek to make numerous concessions. But if it has been Russia's intention from the beginning to incorporate China behind the iron curtain, these efforts were foredoomed to failure.

Turn In The Tide

The sharp increase in juvenile delinquency during the war years has been one of the nation's worst worries and greatest problems. From 1941 through 1945 there was a 50 per cent jump in the number of youngsters involved in crimes. It is extremely reassuring therefore to have the word of no less an authority than Charles L. Cate, executive director of the National Probation Association, that delinquency among boys and girls has reached its peak and is now beginning to level off.

It is possible that the strenuous efforts of local authorities have played some part in this turning of the tide. But a greater factor is unquestionably the gradual return to normal home life in families throughout the nation. This disruption of families because of the absence of fathers overseas and because their mothers were working in war plants undoubtedly accounted for a large part of the rise in delinquency. In peacetime years there will be fewer broken homes and fewer neglected children and this means fewer delinquents.

But the fact that the trend is now downward offers no excuse for complacency. It will take a long time and strenuous effort to offset the evil effects of the war years. Mr. Cate estimates that the gradual return to normal levels of delinquency will take approximately 10 years.

Even the normal level is not good enough. There are far too many children involved in crime in the best of years. Juvenile delinquency is a continuing problem and there is certainly no reason to relax the nation's effort to combat it and save as many children as possible from taking the first steps toward crime.

Little Optimism On Price-Wage Picture

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Given the muddled price control law adopted by Congress, the problem of the decontrol board was an almost impossible one. It is too early to say how much the board's decision will contribute toward bringing food prices down to lower levels.

One thing its members knew only too well before they announced their findings, and that was that nobody would like the findings. As they anticipated, the brickbats are coming from all directions.

So far as grain was concerned, the board had little choice. The department of agriculture recently forecast bumper crops of all grains. In view of those forecasts, the board could hardly have restored controls on grain, even though they may have believed it was in the interest of over-all price control. The SNAFU law made it imperative to decontrol grain and grain products.

Skeptics Wonder

Some skeptics are wondering whether the department of agriculture estimates were not too optimistic. Or, rather, they question whether the department gave sufficient weight to the continuing pressure for grain from all over the world. In the past, these estimates have given too optimistic a picture.

On dairy products, the findings of the decontrol board are hard to follow. There is no way around the fact that the supply is short and likely to remain short for a considerable time. Prices have soared. In many communities, the price of milk is four and even five cents a quart above the old OPA price. Half of that would be justified by the fact that the subsidy no longer exists.

No matter what the bureau of labor statistics may show percentage-wise as to the proportion of the average income that goes into dairy products, milk is a key food. It is essential to the welfare of America's children. The soaring price has put it out of reach, except in diminishing quantities, for millions of families.

Difficult To Analyze

It is difficult to see how the board could have included meat and excluded dairy products. The two are so closely related.

When he testified before the decontrol board, Philip Murray of the CIO made an ominous and angry noise. He demanded that prices be rolled back to June 30 levels, with restoration of all consumer subsidies. He hinted plainly that if this was not done, labor would strike again. The action taken by the central board will never meet Murray's demands.

There are good and sufficient reasons why CIO leaders should not want a new series of strikes. Union treasuries have been squeezed hard. Middle-class opinion is impatient with delays and difficulties in reconversion, which a powerful and unceasing propaganda attributes to the machinations of organized labor.

But, regardless of their own desires, these leaders may have no choice in the matter. If price is cut too deeply, then the pressure from rank-and-file will be irresistible. The probability is for new wage demands in the early fall which may produce a new strike wave.

It is logical to assume," he says, "that a brain, similar to a receiving set, in harmony or tune with a brain generating and radiating thought or emotion, might pick up those thought rays or emotional rays radiated into space although the two brains be a far distance apart. In future years when science has unraveled the mysteries of thought energy and emotional energy, telepathy may become a reality."

At sea, leave no milk until after Labor Day; we are lost the captain staggered as he shouted down the stairs.

Intelligence has just picked up a Republican wireless message in code. It reads: "Truman's trip is like Truman's policies".

There is a subtle insult here which will be resented officially when and if we ever get home.

One thing that must be admitted is that we don't know where we're going but we're on our way.

We hear that the state of emergency in Maine has been ended and the Republican forces dismissed . . . Also that Sen. Pepper spent a restful night.

Pepper had been standing on his roof with a telescope since he heard that Truman might land in Florida.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

A New York woman has left $26,000 to the village of Litchopolis, O., "to maintain forever" the community center which she built at a cost of $500,000.

She built the center as a memorial to her father, who was born in Litchopolis, was a minister there for many years, came to New York, founded a great publishing house and became a multi-millionaire.

I have never been in Litchopolis, but according to reports, it is a village of 300 inhabitants in the flat, fertile farmlands southeast of Columbus.

She has never wasted a film on the pretentious edifices down the street.

The Litchopolis are typical Americans, living in typically American little houses.

The community center built by the philanthropist is an elaborate Tudor Gothic structure with a tower that lifts its head way above the rest of the place. It is a show place.

There is an auditorium seating 428, a library containing 8,000 volumes, a fully equipped dining room and kitchen, motion pictures, a pipe organ and many other things.

The demised lady deserves all the credit in the world for her good intentions, her devotion to her father and to her father's birthplace.

But I think that she might have done better to not to put up a $500,000 building in a village of 300 inhabitants.

In Brookfield, where I live, we have lots of little and big old colonial houses. Most of them are of white clapboard with green or black shutters and hollyhocks and asteria to beautify them.

But I think that she might have done better to not to put up a $500,000 building in a village of 300 inhabitants.

Right in the midst of all this

I wonder whether that great memory in Litchopolis might not have just the opposite effect of what the donor intended.

I wonder whether it might not make the men and women of Litchopolis discontented with their own modest surroundings and drive the boys and girls away to the cities where there are more and ever greater buildings and opportunities.

The publisher of one of the country's most expensive fashion magazines told me the other day that the bulk of his readers are not the people who really dress in the height of fashion but those who would love to but can't afford it.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

ROBBING CHILD OF BIRTHRIGHT

Why rob our children of their birthright to a decent education and proper school training? And these innocent children are as helpless as were the victims of Hitler's concentration camps.

You and I know that we parents, by and large, are responsible for the shameful way thousands of our children have been treated. There are enough parents who could qualify to vote in any local community or state to help guarantee the use of enough public funds to attract as many well-trained teachers as are needed.

But not enough parents really care about their own children or other people's children to set teachers salaries high enough to induce young men and women to enter the teaching profession. What is still worse, most of those entering teachers' colleges now in preparation for teaching are not the brightest young people, as a rule, but fall in the lower 50 per cent of the high school graduates.

Teacher Shortage

Schools will open this fall in the face of the greatest teacher shortage in our nation's history. Most schools will be open, of course, but many classes will be too large for the children to be treated as the individual persons they really are. Moreover, about 125,000 classrooms will have teachers with an emergency license.

Naturally, the standard for such a license is made low enough to get the number of teachers required. In Iowa, for example, 5,000 of these teachers will have no more than a high school education. How would you like to send your child to a teacher who just finished high school last June?

Salaries paid teachers throughout the United States have advanced, on the average, only 10 per cent since January, 1941. In that same period, the average hourly wage for industrial workers has increased over 55 per cent. Living costs have jumped 35 per cent during these five years.

Average Income

The national average for teachers of all kinds is now $1750. This is not high enough to attract returning veterans or the most intelligent among the high school graduates.

The teacher shortage is not just temporary. It will last for some years—America's children the chief victims.

At a time when most of the country's colleges are full to overflowing, the teachers' colleges are only about half full or are offering non-teaching courses. At a recent national conference on this problem of teacher shortage, Irvin R. Kusznir, secretary-treasurer of the American Federation of Teachers said: "Give the teachers decent salaries and a reasonable degree of academic freedom and there will be no teacher shortage."

Here, we wish to express our admiration for those many teachers who in spite of their low pay, are like missionaries or preachers, willing to stick to the classroom and give to their best, some of them being most talented and educated and the choicer personalities we might hope to find. But the number of these rare souls is decreasing.

OPEN FIELD

Stabilizing Wage Dollars

Writing in an official A. F. of L. publication, William Green recently urged the 7,000,000 members of his organization to "stabilize their wage dollars by helping to increase volume of production which can wipe out scarcities and the danger of runaway inflation." An accompanying cartoon drives this thought home with its caption: "Bring prices down by producing the goods!"

If Mr. Green is able to make this message felt he will be doing a signal service for all the American people, as well as union labor. For, as the New York Herald Tribune puts it, "Here in the simplest terms is the fundamental answer to the whole problem of inflation—production." There are, of course, other factors involved, such as excessive government spending which in itself is a strong inflationary influence. But production is at the root of everything.

Our industrial potential is the greatest on earth by a wide margin. We have, in addition, a superbly efficient distribution machine to take the goods to the consumer once the factories produce them. Retailers, led by the big chain organizations, have been a frontline defense against unavoidable price increases. But, until adequate production is resumed, their work can be only partially successful.

Price control by government, at best, is but a temporary and incomplete expedient. Rising prices are the symptoms of inflation—not the cause. If we produce the goods, we will have price stability.

Telepathic Possibilities

Dr. M. F. Daubenbreyer, director of health at the Muscatatuck school, who predicts in the Journal of the Indiana State Medical Association that the mental hospital of the future will be an electrical laboratory, also has something to say about the possibilities of telepathy.

"It is logical to assume," he says, "that a brain, similar to a receiving set, one in harmony or tune with a brain generating and radiating thought or emotion might pick up those thought rays or emotional rays radiated into space although the two brains be a far distance apart. In future years when science has unraveled the mysteries of thought energy and emotional energy, telepathy may become a reality."

The possibility that persons who wish to communicate with each other need do no more than have their brains in tune and then project their thoughts should be of the greatest interest to industries engaged in providing public and private communication. Telephone companies in several large cities are preparing to begin two-way radio telephone service for persons who wish to keep in touch with their homes or offices while driving about the country. Various police departments have had this service for some time.

No equipment would be required for telepathy, and its use would involve no cost. Perhaps the communication systems will investigate this field and make an effort to assist in its development.

Communist War In China

After 18 years of bloody fighting, either against the Japanese or among themselves, it might be thought that the Chinese had had enough of war. But there is now in prospect for that unhappy nation a conflict which will ravage its lands and torture its people in a degree not heretofore known.

One guess is all that should be required as to where the communists are getting the implements and ammunition to wage war.

All the efforts made by the United States to promote peace have proved futile. When Gen. Pat Hurley resigned as ambassador to China and shocked left-wingers here by the assertions he made, he clearly saw the handwriting on the wall in China.

That the situation holds tragic possibilities for the world can be open to doubt. So long as the war rages in China in the manner now to be expected, all nations must remain uneasy. The East may be far away geographically, but its interests touch those of the United States and Great Britain in a thousand places. With China added to Russia, the red menace would be far greater than it is today.

Americans have sensed this peril from the beginning. Washington has sought to pacify the communists and to persuade Chiang Kai-Shek to make numerous concessions. But if it has been Russia's intention from the beginning to incorporate China behind the iron curtain, these efforts were doomed to futility.

Turn In The Tide

The sharp increase in juvenile delinquency during the war years has been one of the nation's worst worries and greatest problems. From 1941 through 1945 there was a 50 per cent jump in the number of youngsters involved in crimes. It is extremely reassuring therefore to have the word of no less an authority than Charles L. Cate, executive director of the National Probation Association, that delinquency among boys and girls has reached its peak and is now beginning to level off.

It is possible that the strenuous efforts of local authorities have played some part in this turning of the tide. But a greater factor is unquestionably the gradual return to normal home life in families throughout the nation. This disruption of families because of the absence of fathers overseas and because their mothers were working in war plants undoubtedly accounted for a large part of the rise in delinquency. In peacetime years there will be fewer broken homes and fewer neglected children and this means fewer delinquents.

But the fact that the trend is now downward offers no excuse for complacency. It will take a long time and strenuous effort to offset the evil effects of the war years. Mr. Cate estimates that the gradual return to normal levels of delinquency will take approximately 10 years.

Even the normal level is not good enough. There are far too many children involved in crime in the best of years. Juvenile delinquency is a continuing problem and there is certainly no reason to relax the nation's effort to combat it and save as many children as possible from taking the first steps toward crime.

What People Say

CHICAGO—George A. Eastwood, president of Armour & Co., objects to price controls on meat: "With ceilings ordered reimposed we can look forward only to return of erratic meat distribution, of black markets and the demoralizing influence which surrounds them."

NEW YORK—Dr. William G. Penney, British scientist just returned from the Bikini atom bomb tests, "It is clear that atomic bombs, if ever used again, will be used against cities. In my opinion there is no doubt that this bomb is powerful enough to flatten completely all buildings within a radius of a half-mile."

WASHINGTON CALLING

by MARQUIS CHILDS

Little Optimism On

Price-Wage Picture

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—Given the muddled price control law adopted by Congress, the problem of the decontrol board was an almost impossible one. It is too early to say how much the board's decision will contribute toward bringing food prices down to lower levels.

One thing its members knew only too well before they announced their findings, and that was that nobody would like the findings. As they anticipated, the brickbats are coming from all directions.

So far as grain was concerned, the board had little choice. The department of agriculture recently forecast bumper crops of all grains. In view of these forecasts, the board could hardly have restored controls on grain, even though they may have believed it was in the interest of over-all price control. The SNAFU law made it imperative to decontrol grain and grain products.

Skeptics Wonder

Some skeptics are wondering whether the department of agriculture estimates were not too optimistic. Or, rather, they question whether the department gave sufficient weight to the continuing pressure for grain from all over the world. In the past, these estimates have given too optimistic a picture.

On dairy products the findings of the decontrol board are hard to follow. There is no way around the fact that the supply is short and likely to remain short for a considerable time. Prices have soared. In many communities, the price of milk is four and even five cents a quart above the old OPA price. Half of that would be justified by the fact that the subsidy no longer exists.

No matter what the bureau of labor statistics may show percentage-wise as to the proportion of the average income that goes into dairy products, milk is a key food. It is essential to the welfare of America's children. The soaring price has put it out of reach, except in diminishing quantities, for millions of families.

Difficult To Analyze

It is difficult to see how the board could have included meat and excluded dairy products. The two are so closely related.

When he testified before the decontrol board, Philip Murray of the CIO made an ominous and snarly noise. He demanded that prices be rolled back to June 30 levels, with restoration of all consumer subsidies. He hinted plainly that if this was not done, labor would strike again. The action taken by the decontrol board will never meet Murray's demands.

There are good and sufficient reasons why CIO leaders should not want a new series of strikes. Union treasuries have been squeezed hard. Middle-class opinion is impatient with delays and difficulties in reconversion, with a powerful and unceasing propaganda attributes to the machinations of organized labor.

But, regardless of their own desires, these leaders may have no choice in the matter. If price rises cut too deeply, then the pressure from rank-and-filers will be irresistible. The probability is for new wage demands in the early fall which may produce a new strike.

Walter Reuther of the United Auto Workers has pointed out that most UAW contracts contain cost-of-living clauses permitting the contracts to be reopened.

Increases Authorized

Ever since OPA was restored after the tussle between the president and Congress, a flood of price increases has been authorized by the agency. Apparently, these are all necessitated by the terms of the Sham law finally adopted. Some of these increases are directly related to the cost of living. Coffee, for example, was boosted from 10 to 13 cents a pound.

Price Administrator Paul Porter has tried to make it clear that the increases were compelled by the action which Congress took. Like Elize in the old-time metamora, Porter has been just one jump ahead of the bloodhounds of the new law as he tries to find a resting place for the OPA baby. His is an unusual act of sacrifice.

Anyone with a morbid interest in cause and effect can trace down the origins of the present trouble. It began when Congress, under the spur of pressure groups, started to tinker with the OPA law. And long before the termination of the wage stabilization agreement which came with V-J Day, opened the way to demands from every group in the nation's economy.

No one can be very optimistic about the price-wage picture in the immediate future. A runaway competition between prices and wages could produce disastrous results. The hope is still production and more production—a flood of goods what will force prices to fall.

Hints On Etiquette

You may flatter yourself that when your head or what you think about things in a blunt manner and without any regard for other people's feelings, you are being "independent", "truthful", "individual". To others you simply are rude, for the first rule of courtesy is to consider the feelings of others.

The State Police Say:

When you walk into the street from between parked cars, you are inviting trouble—injury or death. Accident statistics show that even at reasonable speeds, the driver just hasn't enough warning to protect you. Cross only at intersections and when you are sure the way is clear. The curb line is the danger line.

Wow . . . the little old OPA is really going to surprise some folks . . . especially those who really thought that prices would be kept away down. Wait until things really get printed and let out to the public . . . We still say that the old law of supply and demand is the working arrangement.

Legislation Is Being Framed

Design New Legislation In Effort To Combat Juvenile Delinquency

HARRISBURG, Aug. 23.—(INS)—
Legislation designed to combat juvenile delinquency was being prepared today by the State Welfare Department in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs.

Proposals will be based on the federation's recommendations for expanded foster home facilities, county probation service and child psychology and care clinics, according to Dr. E. Preston Sharp, director of the department's Bureau of Community Work.

The proposals were embodied in a survey of Pennsylvania's child welfare facilities requested by the General Assembly last year and conducted by the federation, Sharp explained. Special remedial measures being outlined for consideration by the 1947 legislature were not completed, he said.

Need For Legislation

"We recognize a need for legislation for basic services—guaranteeing any child needing a place to turn," Sharp stated. "There is a need for more and better foster homes, detention homes and clinics for studying unreasonable children." The state operates no children's homes, but subsidizes hundreds of privately operated institutions. Only a dozen of the 67 counties provided probation service, Sharp said, while only 10 communities offered clinic study of children.

Sharp reported that some proposals for improved care of juveniles coincided with those of a special legislative committee conducting a similar survey and may be submitted to that body.

The committee has gone on record favoring expanded child welfare and placement services and the establishment of a state children's bureau.

Illegitimate Births

Sharp pointed to an increase of 2006 illegitimate births last year over previous yearly averages as an indication more facilities for homeless youngsters will be needed. A total of 7749 babies were born out of wedlock last year, he reported.

More thorough investigations of both foster homes and prospective adopted parents were necessary to assure children of normal home life, Sharp stated.

"Primarily, the war against juvenile delinquency must be fought on a local level," he declared. In addition to pointing out the state's part in combating youthful waywardness, the survey was designed to make people conscious of community needs, particularly in child guidance and recreational facilities."

"They must realize it is more beneficial to children to have the opportunity to develop properly and it is less costly to the taxpayer. In the long run," Sharp stated, "Good environments are necessary for preventing the development of criminals and mentally ill youngsters."

Design New Legislation In Effort To Combat Juvenile Delinquency

HARRISBURG, Aug. 23.—(INS)—Legislation designed to combat juvenile delinquency was being prepared today by the State Welfare Department in cooperation with the Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs.

Proposals will be based on the federation's recommendations for expanded foster home facilities, county probation service and child psychology and care clinics, according to Dr. E. Preston Sharp, director of the department's Bureau of Community Work.

The proposals were embodied in a survey of Pennsylvania's child welfare facilities requested by the General Assembly last year and conducted by the federation. Sharp explained. Special remedial measures being outlined for consideration by the 1947 Legislature were not completed.

Need For Legislation

"We recognize a need for legislation for basic services—guaranteeing any child needing care a place to turn," Sharp stated. "There is a need for more and better foster homes, detention homes and clinics for studying unreasonable children."

The state operates no children's homes but subsidizes hundreds of privately operated institutions. Only a dozen of the 67 counties provided probation service, Sharp said, while only 10 communities offered clinic study of children.

Sharp reported that some proposals for improved care of juveniles coincided with those of a special legislative committee conducting a similar survey and may be submitted to that body.

The committee has gone on record favoring expanded child welfare and placement services and the establishment of a state children's bureau.

Illegitimate Births

Sharp pointed to an increase of 2096 illegitimate births last year over previous yearly averages as an indication more facilities for homeless youngsters will be needed. A total of 7743 babies were born out of wedlock last year, he reported.

More thorough investigations of both foster homes and prospective adopted parents were necessary to assure children of normal home life, Sharp stated.

"Primarily, the war against juvenile delinquency must be fought on a local level," he declared. "In addition to pointing out the state's part in combating youthful waywardness, the survey was designed to make people conscious of community needs, particularly in child guidance and recreational facilities."

"They must realize it is more beneficial to children to have the opportunity to develop properly and it is less costly to the taxpayer in the long run," Sharp stated. "Good environments are necessary for preventing the development of criminals and mentally ill youngsters."

State Campaign Gets Under Way

Democratic Candidates Expected To Emphasize Roosevelt's Record And Policies

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, Aug. 23.—(INS)—Democratic state-wide candidates were expected to emphasize during the fall campaign the late President Roosevelt's record and point out an intention to follow his policies. U. S. Sen. Joseph P. Guffey, of Pittsburgh, candidate for a third term, has indicated that much of his campaign would be devoted to expounding his ardent support of the late president. Some Republican leaders have claimed that Guffey, a veteran of more than 40 years in politics, was "lucky" to be elected to the U. S. Senate and that he rode into office on the coattails of Mr. Roosevelt.

Charges hurled at the state administration of John U. Shroyer during his unsuccessful insurgent campaign for the Republican gubernatorial nomination earlier this year were expected to be re-echoed by Democratic nominees this fall. Some Democratic chieftains admit that Shroyer supplied them with some "good leads" in his blasts at G. O. P. State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor. Shroyer, however, did not attack his Spanish-American War buddy, Gov. Edward Martin, who dismissed him as secretary of highways March 20.

The state planning board has pointed out that latest reports from the federal power commission show that the production of electrical energy by Pennsylvania industrial establishments exceeded other states. The board said the June production of 416,636,000 kilowatt hours surpassed the combined industrial power output of 11 western states, including California, Washington and Oregon.

A spokesman for Gov. Edward Martin has pointed out that there will be no confusion this year over Thanksgiving. He explained that since there were only four Thursdays in November this year, the holiday would be celebrated November 28. In the past years there had been some controversy over the date when there were five Thursdays in November and the fourth one was designated as the holiday by the federal government.

Democratic chieftains have been reported preparing to wage stiff battles to unseat two incumbent Republican congressmen from districts which normally fall to the G. O. P. The seats are those of Congressman Richard M. Simpson, of Huntingdon, and Congressman Chester H. Gross, of Manchester. Simpson represents the 17th district comprising Huntingdon, Bedford, Fulton, Mifflin, Juniata, Perry, Snyder and Union counties while Gross of the 22nd district, represents York, Adams and Franklin counties.

Capitol hill political leaders have been speculating as to what position the executive committee of the Pennsylvania Federation of Labor (AFL) would assume during the fall campaign. The committee will meet at Harrisburg next month and was expected to form its own political action group. Most leaders have ruled out the possibility of the P. F. L. joining forces with the C. I. O. political action committee. Many chieftains have expressed the belief that the P. F. L. action will have an important bearing on the general election November 5 because of its large membership reported at more than 600,000.

There have been reports at the state house that Republican State Chairman M. Harvey Taylor, of Harrisburg, may resign after the fall election. Taylor, who served as state chairman from 1934 to 1937 when he resigned, was re-elected to the post in 1942, 1944 and this year.

The most persistent reports have been that Taylor would be succeeded by Secretary of State Senator G. Harold Watkins, of Frackville, a former senator.

Twenty-Four Planes Are Entered In Race For Bendix Trophy

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 23.—(INS)—One navy fighter plane and 23 army ships were entered today in the $25,000 transcontinental Bendix trophy race.

The field of 24 entrants, to be held August 30 from Van Nuys, Calif., to Cleveland, is the largest in the 1939 Bendix races Mantz won third place.

Larry Therkelsen, Los Angeles race chairman, said the lone navy plane is an FG-D Corsair entered by Dave Weyler and flown by Thomas Call, both of Los Angeles.

P-38 Lightnings outnumber all other planes in the race. There are 13 P-38s entered against five P-51 Mustangs, two P-63 King Cobras one P-47 Thunderbolt, one A-26 Invader attack bomber and the Corsair.

Nadine Ramsey of Long Beach, Calif., flying her own P-38, is the only woman entrant.

Veteran of former Bendix races is Paul Mantz of Burbank, Calif., famed stunt and movie flyer who will pilot a P-51. He flew with the late Amelia Earhart when they took fifth place in 1935. In the 1938 and 1939 Bendix races Mantz won third place.

Grandma did it.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23.—(INS)—Grandmother didn't know it, but in making butter balls two centuries ago she devised a technique that forms a basic operation in present-day manufacture of high-precision bearings.

Oranges, Fuels Boosted In Price By Action Of OPA

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—(INS)—OPA on Thursday boosted the price of oranges and coal dealers' ceilings for all solid fuels.

Orange prices were increased 37 cents per standard box, FOB country shipping point, effective tomorrow. OPA said this increase would amount to about one-half cent per pound at retail level.

The coal price boosts were 30 cents a ton on retail sales and 10 cents a ton on sales to resellers for anthracite, coke, bituminous semi-anthracite and Virginia semi-anthracite. On bituminous coal, lignite, briquettes, packaged fuel and other miscellaneous solid fuels, retail sales go up 18 cents a ton and sales to resellers were hiked nine cents a ton.

OPA said the orange price increases were granted to reflect the sharp jump since April 17 in party prices.

It said the coal price increases were "necessitated by the provision in the new price control act requiring OPA to allow dealers the average percentage mark-up they had in effect on March 31, 1946."

War Veterans Are Not Voting As Bloc

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—A national survey shows today that millions of World War Two veterans participated in this year's primary elections without voting as a bloc or shedding any new light on the 1946 outcome.

The outstanding development in the primaries appeared to be the fact that voters supported as a rule only those veterans who had previous political success at the polls. A handful of veterans won nominations for minor offices in the first races, while hundreds of them were beaten when running for the first time.

No Bloc Voting

National political leaders are convinced that the veterans did not vote as a bloc for either party or for any.

Buddy, merely because he was a veteran seeking public office.

The veterans organized as such in only seven counties of Arkansas, and single counties in Tennessee and Alabama. They had scattered success in Arkansas and Alabama while reverting to warfare to win in Athens, Tenn.

Politically experienced veterans won important statewide nominations in California, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Wisconsin and Vermont. Veterans of the first world conflict were nominated also for high office in Idaho, Kansas, New Mexico, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

In Iowa, Kentucky and Tennessee, veterans of the Second World War were badly beaten when seeking high state offices.

Picture in California

The early California primary seemed to set the national picture.

Will Rogers Jr., who was aboard a tank destroyer in the Bulge, won the Democratic senatorial nomination while William F. Knowland, an army major in Germany, won the Republican nomination. Both held public office before entering the army.

In Massachusetts, Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., who resigned from the Senate to enter the army, won an uncontested GOP nomination for the Senate. Most observers said he would have won without his army service.

In Nebraska, Frederick V. E. Peterson won the Republican nomination for governor. He was with the army air forces in the China-Burma-India theater. The recent election in Wisconsin gave marine veteran Joseph R. McCarthy a victory over Robert M. LaFollette for the GOP senatorial nomination. McCarthy, however, was a circuit judge at the time and a pre-war veteran in Wisconsin politics.

In Vermont, young Ernest W. Gibson defeated Gov. Mortimer R. Proctor in the GOP primary. Gibson served briefly in the Senate before going to war.

The outstanding defeats administered to veterans were in Iowa, Kentucky and Tennessee.

A number of first and Second World War veterans—all with previous political experience—won senatorial nominations. These included: William E. Jenner, GOP, in Indiana; Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, GOP, in New Mexico; Brig. Gen. D. John Murkey, GOP, Maryland; Henry C. Drorshak, GOP, Idaho; Maj. Gen. and Gov. Edward Martin, GOP, Pennsylvania; and Sen. Harley Kilgore, Democrat, re-nominated in West Virginia.

In Iowa, Kentucky and Tennessee, veterans of the Second World War were badly beaten when seeking high state offices.

FOUR KILLED IN GAS TANK BLAST IN OKLAHOMA HOME

SHAWNEE, Okla., Aug. 23.—(INS)—Explosion of butane gas tank was blamed Thursday for the deaths of four persons in a home near Tribune, Okla. Three persons were hurt in the blast.

Fatally injured in the explosion were Mr. and Mrs. Toy West, their two-months-old child, and Janice Rice, a 14-year-old neighbor girl. It was believed the explosion occurred after butane gas leaked from a tank accumulated in the West's home.

After 35 Years Decides His Act Too Hazardous

PITTSBURGH.—(INS)—Feejay Ringens who has been performing his death-defying bicycle act before thousands of circus fans for 35 of his 58 years, has given up.

The tall, bald performer, emphasized, however, that he wasn't quitting show business but plans to develop a less hazardous performance. He declared:

"I've lost the art. I'm all right at times and there are times when I'm not so sure of myself. Back in 1921 I shelved the act for seven years. This time, however, I'm definitely through."

Rides Bicycle

In his act Ringens rides a bicycle down a loft, 150-ft. ramp and dives 100 feet through space into a three-foot tank of water. He uses contact lenses to protect his eyes from the impact of the water.

"Look for me next year. I'll have a thriller—but less hazardous," Ringens said.

HAMLIN.—Mrs. Lucy E. Stocker did not take it easy on her 100th birthday. She greeted 150 persons who called to wish her well.

Discuss Plans If U. S. Presses Yugoslav Action

Council Deputy Of U.N. Confers With Acheson On Procedure To Be Followed

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—(INS)—Herschel V. Johnson, U.S. deputy on the U.N. Security Council, conferred with acting Secretary of State Acheson Thursday on procedures to be followed in the event the United States asks the United Nations to act against Yugoslavia.

The Tito government meanwhile had before it the United States ultimatum demanding the release within 48 hours of Americans shot or forced down by the Yugoslav airmen.

Should the Yugoslav government refuse to comply, the matter will be taken to the Security Council. Johnson conferred for 30 minutes with Acheson. Following the conference he said he was returning to New York without specific instructions.

He added that the normal process would be to notify U.N. Secretary General Trygve Lie and ask that the case be placed on the council's agenda.

The United States then would present its case when a date was set. John declared no power can exercise a veto to prevent the case being placed on the agenda.

The Tito regime and the whole question of United States-Soviet relations was placed by the State department's ultimatum into a crucible of international good faith by the demand that the fliers be handed over within 48 hours.

The United States embassy in Belgrade was instructed to relay to Washington immediately word of the arrival of the U.S. message.

Pastor Puts Indian Sign On Trouble

CHICAGO.—(INS)—The Rev. Michael K. Jacobs is one pastor who can boast that his parish has no divorce, no juvenile delinquency, and no crime.

Father Jacobs, the only Indian Jesuit and the first Iroquois Indian to be ordained to the priesthood, is assigned to the St. Regis Indian reservation at Quebec.

He told a meeting of Catholic leaders in Chicago that if a couple on the reservation have marital difficulty, they separate temporarily. He added:

Patch Things Up

"They tell their troubles to the Indian chief or to me. We generally manage to patch things up quickly. Our people are devoted to St. Regis, member of broken homes. With that faith and their love of children, separations are brief."

To combat juvenile delinquency, Father Jacobs inaugurated an extensive program of recreation and handicraft training.

Father Jacobs, whose Indian name is Wissel Kar-ien-ton, meaning "Father of the Woods," joined the priesthood to atone for the slaughter of eight Jesuit missionaries by his forefathers of the Iroquois tribe in the 17th century.

His territory includes parts of Quebec, Ontario, and New York state.

Garden Notes

To make Brussels sprouts grow sprouts instead of going to foliage, pack the soil tight around the stem. They should be sprayed with nicotine to protect them against aphids.

Bedding plants are dormant at this season and may be lifted and divided.

Lift and divide overgrown narcissus clumps and the increase will amaze you. Replant the large bulbs after enriching the soil and naturalize the rest in drifts along the grass edges or shrubbery border.

For bigger chrysanthemums, nip off the side buds. Give the plants a handful of sheep manure and keep them well watered and cultivated.

Tuberous bulbs should be taken up after the first light frost, dried thoroughly and stored in a cool dry place during the winter.

If large stalks of delphiniums also are cut back the hollow center of each stalk should be filled with grafting wax to exclude the carpenter bee.

Pansy seeds sown now and kept moist by mulching and careful watering will germinate in about two weeks. The young plants can be transplanted into frames as soon as they are large enough to handle.

Eggplants are frequently attacked by the potato bug. Since the average home gardener has only a few plants, the bugs can easily be knocked off into a can of kerosene.

Current bushes should be cut back this month to induce new growth for next year's bearing.

Calla lilies, amaryllis and other bulbs of similar culture in pots should be rested now. Turn the pots over on their sides and do not water them. Most of the bulbs of this type will flower best if not reported too often.

House plants that have been removed from their pots and set out in the garden for summer should be taken up and potted during the latter part of August. Prune the plants severely and keep them out of doors until late September.

Mustard should be planted in August and September to give a supply of late fall greens.

COLLECTS IRONS

DURANGO, Colo.—(INS)—Mrs. Lawrence Hickman of Durango boasts an accumulation of 69 flat-irons—big and little, old and new, simple and complex—but all very much alike. The oldest iron, of the hot-stove-heating variety, dates back to 1865. The oldest specimen of the electric family bears the date 1903.

War Veterans Are Not Voting As Bloc

By WILLIAM K. HUTCHINSON
(N. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—A national survey shows today that millions of World War Two veterans participated in this year's primary elections without voting as a bloc or shedding any new light on the 1946 outcome.

The outstanding development in the primaries appeared to be the fact that voters supported as a rule only those veterans who had previous political success at the polls. A handful of veterans won nominations for minor offices in the first races, while hundreds of them were beaten when running for the first time.

No Bloc Voting

National political leaders are convinced that the veterans did not vote as a bloc for either party or for any buddy, merely because he was a veteran seeking public office.

The veterans organized as such in only seven counties of Arkansas, and single counties in Tennessee and Alabama. They had scattered success in Arkansas and Alabama while reverting to warfare to win in Athens, Tenn.

Politically experienced veterans won important statewide nominations in California, Massachusetts, Nebraska, Wisconsin and Vermont. Veterans of the first world conflict were nominated also for high office in Idaho, Kansas, New Mexico, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

In Iowa, Kentucky and Tennessee, veterans of the Second World War were badly beaten when seeking high state offices.

Picture in California

The early California primary seemed to set the national picture. Will Rogers, Jr., who was aboard a tank destroyer in the Bulge, won the Democratic senatorial nomination while William F. Knowland, an army major in Germany, won the Republican nomination. Both held public office before entering the army.

In Massachusetts, Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., who resigned from the Senate to enter the army, won an uncontested GOP nomination for the Senate. Most observers believe he would have won without his army service.

In Nebraska, Frederick V. Peterson won the Republican nomination for governor. He was with the army air forces in the China-Burma-India theater. The recent election in Wisconsin gave marine veteran Joseph R. McCarthy a victory over Robert M. LaFollette for the GOP senatorial nomination. McCarthy, however, was a circuit judge at the time and a pre-war victor in Wisconsin politics.

In Vermont, young Ernest W. Gibson defeated Gov. Mortimer R. Proctor in the GOP primary. Gibson served briefly in the Senate before going to war.

The outstanding defeats administered to veterans were in Iowa, Kentucky and Tennessee. A number of first and Second World War veterans—all with previous political experience—won senatorial nominations. These included: William E. Jenner, GOP, in Indiana; Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, GOP, in New Mexico; Brig. Gen. D. John Markey, GOP, Maryland; Henry C. Dvorchak, GOP, Idaho; Maj. Gen. and Gov. Edward Martin, GOP, Pennsylvania; and Sen. Harley Kilgore, Democrat, re-nominated in West Virginia.

HOLD THREE FOR HOME LOOTING

LANCASTER, Pa., Aug. 23—(INS)—Jesse Flowers, 30, of Holtwood, R. D. 2, was charged today by state police with being an accessory in the theft of $20,000 worth of household goods from a Lancaster home during the past 16 months.

Earlier, state police had jailed Mrs. Bertha Flowers, 52, and her daughter, Virgie Mae, 23, formerly employed at the home of Mrs. Yvonne L. Appel where the thefts occurred. Both were charged with burglary. Flowers was arrested yesterday.

Police said loot totaling $14,000 had been recovered, including a bracelet and a diamond brooch with a similar value. First estimates of Mrs. Appel's loss had been placed at $7,000 by police.

Plan Adopted For Calling Aid Of Firemen Here

Calls For Assistance Outside New Castle Must Come Through Authorized Persons

When City Council met Thursday in City Hall a recommendation was adopted, submitted by Safety Director D. O. Davies, which will permit fire-fighting aid by the city only when service is requested by an authorized member of the Lawrence County Firemen's association.

Members of the association are: New Castle fire department; Wurtemburg volunteer fire company; Ellwood City fire company; New Wilmington fire company; Shenango township volunteer fire company; Neshannock volunteer fire company; Bessemer volunteer fire company; and West Pittsburg volunteer fire company.

Each of the foregoing members of the association has delegated persons with the authority to ask the New Castle department for aid. If any other than an authorized member asks for service it will not be granted, according to Council's decision.

He said he had been informed that some residents of these places refuse to support their fire companies, yet have telephoned for service from the New Castle fire department, and he believes that all persons in those districts should help maintain a fire-fighting force in their districts.

Authorized To Call Aid
He furnished to Council a list sent to him by the association members, of persons authorized to telephone for aid. Their names follow:

New Wilmington fire company: Glenn McConnell, president, 211-J; William Evans, chief, 76-G; George Brown, assistant chief, 157-E, and Russell Minner, assistant chief, 41-K.

Wurtemburg and Perry townships company: Lucien Downing, president; C. W. Timblin, chief, Ellwood City, 1668, and Elmer Hoenslne, assistant chief.

Shenango company: W. R. Waddington, president, 2746; E. Dean, chief, 1699, and J. Henderson, assistant chief, 3458-R.

Neshannock company: Arthur Guy, president, 4788-J; James Messer, chief, 5718-J, and Merle Brooks, assistant chief, 1377-M.

Ellwood City company: C. V. Rodgers, chief; Arthur Duncan, assistant chief.

New Castle fire department: D. O. Davies, safety director; J. E. Thomas, chief; George Harper, assistant chief; E. D. Hawk, assistant chief.

PULASKI COW MAKES RECORD

PETERBOROUGH, N. H., Aug. 23.—A two year old registered Guernsey cow, Charter's Pauline, owned by John F. Bridwell, of Pulaski, has clinched a creditable Advanced Registry record of 6846.5 pounds of milk and 335.4 pounds of butterfat on twice daily milking for ten months.

He accuses the American Legion of roping off Jefferson street to hold street fair. It is true that several years ago Jefferson street was roped off for this purpose, but it was a city centennial celebration sponsored by all the clubs and fraternal organizations in the city and of course the Legion was in on it.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

New Castle, Pa.
August 21, 1946.
Editor of New Castle News,
New Castle, Pa.

Dear Sir:

In the News you printed a letter written by one Andrew Metrick, Jr., in which he made unwarranted attacks on myself, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and American Legion, regarding his appearance before City Council trying to get permission to place booths on the city streets for the purpose of registering returned veterans and recruiting of membership in the A. V. C.

It is true that I did appear before City Council opposing this move, but only as a citizen as I stated before Council that I was not representing any veterans organization, although I thought that both the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion should have a representative there. I also said that registering of the American voter was a worthwhile project and that both the above mentioned veterans organizations had advocated it for years.

Mr. Metrick states that the American Legion is the only veterans organization chartered by Congress. I wish to call his attention to (Public No. 630—74th Congress) (H. R. 11454) which granted a charter to the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States. The Disabled American Veterans is another veterans organization that is also chartered by Congress.

All three of these veterans organizations are organized for service to the veteran and his widow and orphans, and do service work for them with the Veterans Administration and other branches of the U. S. government agencies.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, and Disabled American Veterans are the only veterans organizations recognized by the Veterans Administration to handle any claims by the veteran. The American Red Cross along with one or two other agencies also are recognized for this kind of work.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion are more than willing to aid and assist in the registering of the American citizen so that he may exercise his right to vote at all elections and they do not try to tell him how to cast that vote, for both of them are non-political, but we do want them to vote and not be disfranchised because he is not registered.

The A. V. C. is not a veterans organization for the simple reason that it has on its membership rolls men who did not serve with the armed forces, such as merchant seamen. Why not take in the defense worker and all the others that aided in the defense of this great country?

Both the V. F. W. and American Legion are only too willing to aid and assist any bonafide veterans organization with any project that is for the betterment of this country, and both of them are always on the watch for something that is not open and above board, and surely will combat any such activity whether it is traveling under false colors and will later on show itself to what it is.

He accuses the American Legion of roping off Jefferson street to hold street fair. It is true that several years ago Jefferson street was roped off for this purpose, but it was a city centennial celebration sponsored by all the clubs and fraternal organizations in the city and of course the Legion was in on it.

Plan Adopted For Calling Aid Of Firemen Here

Calls For Assistance Outside New Castle Must Come Through Authorized Persons

When City Council met Thursday in City Hall a recommendation was adopted, submitted by Safety Director D. O. Davies, which will permit fire-fighting aid by the city only when service is requested by an authorized member of the Lawrence County Firemen's association.

Members of the association are: New Castle fire department; Wurtemburg volunteer fire company; Ellwood City fire company; New Wilmington fire company; Shenango township volunteer fire company; Neshannock volunteer fire company; Bessemer volunteer fire company and West Pittsburg volunteer fire company.

Each of the foregoing members of the association has delegated persons with the authority to ask the New Castle department for aid. If any other than an authorized member asks for service it will not be granted, according to Council's decision.

He said he had been informed that some residents of these places refuse to support their fire companies, yet have telephoned for service from the New Castle fire department, and he believes that all persons in those districts should help maintain a fire-fighting force in their districts.

Authorized To Call Aid

He furnished to Council a list sent to him by the association members, of persons authorized to telephone for aid. Their names follow:

New Wilmington fire company: Glenn McConnell, president, 211-J; William Evans, chief, 70-G; George Brown, assistant chief, 157-E, and Russell Minner, assistant chief, 41-K.

Wurtemburg and Perry townships company: Lucien Downing, president; C. W. Timblin, chief, Ellwood City, 1666, and Elmer Hoenstine, assistant chief.

Shenango company: W. R. Waddington, president, 2746; E. Dean, chief, 1699, and J. Henderson, assistant chief, 3458-R.

Neshannock company: Arthur Guy, president, 4798-J; James Messner, chief, 5719-J, and Merle Brooks, assistant chief, 1377-M.

Ellwood City company: C. V. Rodgers, chief; Arthur Duncan, assistant chief.

New Castle fire department: D. O. Davies, safety director; J. E. Thomas, chief; George Harper, assistant chief; E. D. Hawk, assistant chief.

PULASKI COW MAKES RECORD

PETERBOROUGH, N. H., Aug. 23.—A two year old registered Guernsey cow, Charter's Pauline, owned by John F. Bridwell, Pulaski, Pa., has completed a creditable Advanced Register record of 6846.9 pounds of milk and 335.4 pounds of butterfat, on twice daily milking for ten months.

This record was supervised by the Pennsylvania State College and reported to the American Guernsey Cattle Club for approval and publication.

LETTERS TO THE NEWS

New Castle, Pa.,
August 21, 1946.
Editor of New Castle News,
New Castle, Pa.,
Dear Sir:

In the News you printed a letter written by one Andrew Metrick, Jr., in which he made unwarranted attacks on myself, the Veterans of Foreign Wars, and American Legion, regarding his appearance before City Council trying to get permission to place booths on the city streets for the purpose of registering returned veterans and recruiting of membership in the A. V. C.

It is true that I did appear before City Council opposing this move, but only as a citizen as I stated before Council that I was not representing any veterans organization, although I thought that both the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion should have a representative there. I also said that registering of the American voter was a worthwhile project and that both the above mentioned veterans organizations had advocated it for years.

Mr. Metrick states that the American Legion is the only veteran's organization chartered by Congress.

I wish to call his attention to (Public No. 630—74th Congress) H. R. 11454 which granted a charter to the Veterans of Foreign Wars of the United States. The Disabled American Veterans is another veterans organization that is also chartered by Congress.

All three of these veterans organizations are organized for service to the veteran and his widows and orphans, and do service work for them with the Veterans Administration and other branches of the U. S. government agencies.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars, American Legion, and Disabled American Veterans are the only veterans organizations recognized by the Veterans Administration to handle any claims by the veteran, the American Red Cross along with one or two other agencies also are recognized for this kind of work.

The Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion are more than willing to aid and assist in the registering of the American citizen so that he may exercise his right to vote at all elections and they do not try to tell him how to cast that vote, for both of them are non-political, but we do want them to vote and not be disfranchised because he is not registered.

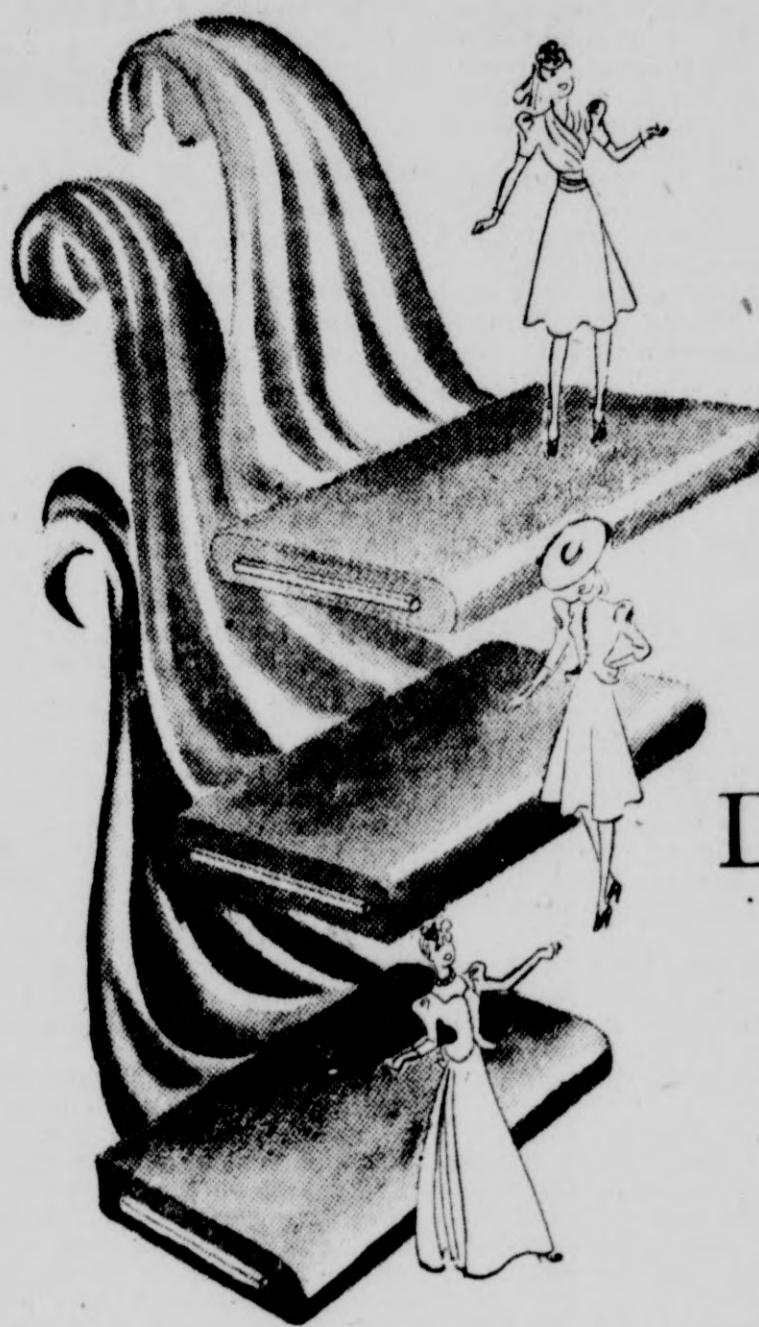

The A. V. C. is not a veteran's organization for the simple reason that it has on its membership rolls men who did not serve with the armed forces, such as merchant seamen. Why not take in the defense worker and all the others that aided in the defense of this great country?

Both the V. F. W. and American Legion are only too willing to aid and assist any bonafide veterans organization with any project that is for the betterment of this country, and both of them are always on the watch for something that is not open and above board and surely will combat any such activity whether it is traveling under false colors and will later on show itself for what it is.

He accuses the American Legion of roping off Jefferson street to hold a street fair. It is true that several years ago Jefferson street was roped off for this purpose, but it was a city centennial celebration sponsored by all the clubs and fraternal organizations in the city and of course the legion was in on it.

Potato Harvest Boosted By DDT

HARRISBURG, Aug. 23.—Nearly a million more bushels of late potatoes will be harvested in Pennsylvania this year than last, even though 10,000 fewer acres are being used to grow the crop, according to a Federal-State survey as of August 1, announced by the State Department of Agriculture.

Estimates on the late spud crop show total production of 17,526,000 bushels, compared with 16,724,000 last year, the department said. The increased production this year from fewer acres is attributed to the fact that many commercial potato growers are spraying their vines with DDT making it possible to boost the estimated average yield per acre to 127 bushels, 14 more than the 1945 average.

Pennsylvania potato crops that have been well sprayed improved rapidly during July. Unsprayed fields are mostly blighted or have heavy insect infestation, and in some such fields the vines are dead. Due to hot dry weather during late June and early July the cobs are small in size but have many tubers to the hill.

The late potato crop in commercial areas of Erie county looks good but stands are said to be rather poor. In Potter county growth has been excellent with little blight showing and few insects. Rains in the Lehigh-Northampton area July 21-23 were needed but washed out some fields, and in the eastern and southern sections the rains caused some drowning. Elsewhere in the East well sprayed fields are in excellent condition the report declared. Much replanting caused many irregular stands in the Somerset-Cambria area and dry weather caused some wilt. Slight damage from early blight was apparent by August 1.

CARRIER WILL VISIT PORTS
LONDON, Aug. 23.—(INS)—Vice Admiral Henry K. Hewitt, commander of United States naval forces in European waters, announced Thursday that the Aircraft Carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt will visit Gibraltar, Malta, Naples and Tangier.

The carrier also will take part in training maneuvers in the Mediterranean with other units of the American naval forces.

Admiral Hewitt in April revealed plans to have U. S. warships visit several European ports this year.

Prisoner Asks For Life In Jail; Claims No Friends

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23.—(INS)—A 49-year-old man, who has spent almost two-thirds of his life in prisons, Thursday pleaded for life imprisonment, saying "no one will miss me."

William Oshurn Stratton, alias James R. Hoffman, of Philadelphia, was found guilty of forgery and carrying concealed weapons before Judge Joseph Tumolillo in Federal court. He has been sentenced to prison 21 times on various charges and been in and out of jail since his first arrest at the age of 12.

In a letter, scrawled on a single piece of white paper, which Stratton gravely handed the judge, he asked for life imprisonment "because I have no friends or anyone who cares if I live or not."

He told how difficult he had found it attempting to live in a world "hostile" to ex-convicts. And how he always ended up drinking and cashing worthless checks.

Only once, the letter continued, had he ever found a "real true friend." But he lost her because, he explained, "I wasn't even on the level with her, thinking she was like every one else, out to trick me."

Finally, the words on the small piece of paper said, "I don't want to be free any more, so do the best you can as I won't be sore."

Adding Strength To Naval Forces In Europe Theater

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—(INS)—A navy spokesman said Thursday that the American warship force in the Mediterranean is being strengthened by an aircraft carrier, two cruisers and five destroyers.

The additional ships, under command of Adm. Henry K. Hewitt, are to join two cruisers and two destroyers which have been operating with British units in the Yugoslavia-Trieste area.

The exact destination of the ships enroute was not disclosed. With ships already there, the United States will have a medium-sized task force in the Mediterranean.

Approaching Gibralter is the giant aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt, the light cruisers Houston, Hewitt's flag ship, and Little Rock, and destroyers Warrington, Perry, Cone, New and Noa.

Already in the Mediterranean are the light cruisers Fargo and Huntington and destroyers Power and Ernest G. Small.

Potato Harvest Boosted By DDT

HARRISBURG, Aug. 23.—Nearly a million more bushels of late potatoes will be harvested in Pennsylvania this year than last, even though 10,000 fewer acres are being used to grow the crop, according to a Federal-State survey as of August 1, announced by the State Department of Agriculture.

Estimates on the late spud crop show total production of 17,526,000 bushels compared with 16,724,000 last year, the department said. The increased production this year from fewer acres is attributed to the fact that many commercial potato growers are spraying their vines with DDT making it possible to boost the estimated average yield per acre to 127 bushels, 14 more than the 1945 average.

Pennsylvania potato crops that have been well sprayed improved rapidly during July. Unsprayed fields are mostly blighted or have heavy insect infestation, and in some such fields the vines are dead. Due to hot dry weather during late June and early July the cobs are small in size but have many tubers to the hill.

The late potato crop in commercial areas of Erie county looks good but stands are said to be rather poor. In Potter county growth has been excellent with little blight showing and few insects. Rains in the Lehigh-Northampton area July 21-23 were needed but washed out some fields, and in the eastern and southern sections the rains caused some drowning. Elsewhere in the East well sprayed fields are in excellent condition the report declared. Much replanting caused many irregular stands in the Somerset-Cambria area and dry weather caused some wilt. Slight damage from early blight was apparent by August 1.

CARRIER WILL VISIT PORTS
LONDON, Aug. 23.—(INS)—Vice Admiral Henry K. Hewitt, commander of United States naval forces in European waters, announced Thursday that the Aircraft Carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt will visit Gibraltar, Malta, Naples and Tangier.

The carrier also will take part in training maneuvers in the Mediterranean with other units of the American naval forces.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23.—(INS)

A 46-year-old man, who has spent almost two-thirds of his life in prisons, Thursday pleaded for life imprisonment, saying "no one will miss me."

William Osburn Stratton, alias James R. Hoffman, of Philadelphia, was found guilty of forgery and carrying concealed weapons before Judge Joseph Tumolillo in Federal court. He has been sentenced to prison 21 times on various charges and been in and out of jail since his first arrest at the age of 11.

In a letter, scrawled on a single piece of white paper, which Stratton gravely handed the judge, he asked for life imprisonment "because I have no friends or anyone who cares if I live or not."

He told how difficult he had found it attempting to live in a world "hostile" to ex-convicts. And how he always ended up drinking and cashing worthless checks.

Only once, the letter continued, had he ever found a "real true friend." But he lost her because, he explained, "I wasn't even on the level with her, thinking she was like every one else, out to trick me."

Finally, the words on the small piece of paper said, "I don't want to be free any more, so do the best you can as I won't be sore".

Judge Tumolillo deferred sentence pending a mental examination for Stratton.

State Funds For
'G. I. Colleges'

HARRISBURG, Aug. 23.—(INS)—Dr. Robert M. Steele, director of Pennsylvania's "G. I. College" program, said today a state loan of $750,000 will be needed to help meet initial operating costs of branch instruction centers.

A request for the amount had been submitted to Gov. Edward Martin, Steele said. He estimated the minimum cost of operating approximately 200 centers for one semester at $1,000,000. The centers were scheduled to open October 15.

The uniform $300 tuitions could be collected immediately from civilian overflow students channeled into the branch colleges, he explained, but the federal government will pay the bill for former service men at the end of semesters.

The governor is taking the responsibility for providing funds to get the program underway, Steele stated. "The state grant will be paid from tuitions. We expect the program to be as nearly self-supporting as possible."

The amount we mentioned will be sufficient to carry on until the legislature meets and any necessary additional funds can be obtained," he added.

IN THE OPEN

The weekend brought a spell of wet weather which once again called a halt to my plans for visiting with the smallmouth bass in the hard-fished stream which traverses a deep valley some 30 miles from my doorway. From all reports the bass fishing so far has been "spotty", so perhaps I will find September a more productive month. The early season enthusiasts are usually out of the way by then and the big tunkers who paid no attention to drybody in the hot months will be going on the feed, striking up for the winter ahead.

Flower Show

The mid-August flower show is now going full blast so I put away the fishing rods and dressed for a struggle through the thick tangles in the barren old-fields below the house, to renew acquaintance with some of these wayside beauties. There is a small admission fee which the outdoorsman must pay to take in this flower show. He must be willing to step in the swampy stretches over his shoe tops now and then. He must take his chances with poison ivy and stinging nettle and he must be able to make his way more or less gracefully across wire fences and similar barriers of all sizes and description.

I crossed the backyard fence and waded through a patch of tall wild mustard, now gone to seed, and standing here and brown. Clumsily I broke through a large web before I noticed the great garden spider which had hidden under a nearby milkweed leaf. This was the big black and yellow fellow known as the Miranda quite common about our lawns and flower beds in late summer. The Miranda has an entertaining habit of shaking its web vigorously when disturbed. I soon discovered another taking life easy in the middle of a beautiful orb web, hung with great skill and good judgement above a wild flower bed which attracted goodly numbers of small bees and flies. I gave Miranda a light pat on the back. She immediately took umbrage and nearly tore the web loose from its moorings as she indicated violent displeasure.

Beautiful Spectacle

A short marshy stretch traverses this area. I stood on the edge of the swamp and took a first look at the flower spectacle. Orange jewelweed and its bigger pale yellow cousin bloomed in great profusion all about. The flowers hung like little jewel cases, bearing shining gems of nectar for the many honeybees swarming about the plants. The monkey flower was also much in evidence and I saw the brilliant blue spikes of great blue lobelia.

The white flower heads of boneset stood out in the center of the display, while the background consisted largely of tall wild sunflowers, with the sky-blue of chicory, still open in the shade spots, as an occasional color accent. Teazel was in bloom, standing about the fields in large colonies. Two or three varieties of smartweed contributed some flowers and a great deal of foliage to the general picture.

Wades through Marsh

I waded through the marsh and creased into an abandoned stretch of bottomland, now grown into an almost impassable tangle of weedy growth. Here the evening primrose and the flag of the goldenrod furnished the color, while in the thickets edging this field were great masses of garden phlox, flanked deep pink. Peacock also bloomed in this cluster. The Indian tobacco, together with the common heal-all and wild carrot, were undercut everywhere.

The butterflies were out in full force to enjoy the flower show, paying their way by helping along with the pollination, and taking in return a fee of nectar for this service. There were a great many tiger swallowtails flying, together with a host of white cabbage butterflies and the little yellow sulphur. The spangled fritillaries were also abroad and I saw one monarch and one of the eyed wood nymphs during the few hours I was afield.

No matter how often the outdoorsman walks his ballywick, there is always the possibility of a new discovery—some rare shrub or tree or flower which has escaped his eye on countless previous meanderings over the same terrain. As I blundered along through the thicket edging the field, perhaps a half-mile down the valley below the house, I practically fell over a beautiful but-

Large Group Of Alliance Young People Enjoy Picnic At Franklin Avenue Home

Over 75 young people members of the Young People's society of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle, 210 Pearson street, gathered at the home of Peary Duncan, Franklin avenue, Thursday evening, where they enjoyed their annual picnic.

The members of the society began assembling at 6:30, when they engaged in a game of marshmallows on the ball field adjoining the Duncan home. Others engaged in horseshoe pitching and some participated in ring games.

After an hour of hearty play, with time to work up a good appetite, the call was given to "come and eat," with the group descending on the refreshment table three and four deep. Hot dogs, coffee, cake and ice cream disappeared in mind-boggling quantities.

After the refreshment period, the young people enjoyed a "quiet time."

around the large bonfire, when choruses, led by Josephine Jenkins, were sung by all. Special feature of this period were the harmonies of the young people's quartet, composed of Gerald Haggerty, James Forsythe, Ralph Fording and Edward Jenkins. Personal testimonies were also given by the youths.

Helping to make the affair a success were the young people's president, Harry Karns, and his assistants, Mrs. Goidie Moon, Mrs. John Gwin, Miss Mary Haybarger and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Duncan, the hosts.

Needs Of Hospitalized
Veterans Are Stressed

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23.—(INS)—Gen. F. R. Kerr, director of special service for the veterans administration, called upon the American people today to prevent the nation's hospitalized war veterans from becoming a "lost generation."

Addressing the 26th annual convention of the American Legion auxiliary, department of Pennsylvania, the VA official said:

"It is a challenge to all of us to see to it that these thousands of veterans do not become forgotten men and women."

Explaining that the needs of hospitalized vets have "multiplied several hundred fold," General Kerr urged auxiliary members to volunteer their services in behalf of the incapacitated men and women who served in the armed forces.

He said that hospitalized veterans are the "responsibility of the entire citizens' body."

The VA, General Kerr added, must set a course for years to come when the tumult and the shouting of "something for the boys" has

Need $750,000 State Funds For G. I. Colleges

HARRISBURG, Aug. 23.—(INS)—Dr. Robert M. Steele, director of Pennsylvania's "G. I. College" program, said today a state loan of $750,000 will be needed to help meet initial operating costs of branch instruction centers.

A request for the amount had been submitted to Gov. Edward Martin. Steele said. He estimated the minimum cost of operating approximately 20 centers for one semester at $1,000,000. The centers were scheduled to open October 15.

"The amount we mentioned will be sufficient to carry on until the legislature meets and any necessary additional funds can be obtained," he added.

Report 15,000 Students

Coordinators of the nine branch college areas reported yesterday that approximately 15,000 students denied campus admissions due to the housing shortage were expected to attend the instruction centers, Steele said. Three-fourths were expected to be veterans.

Recruiting has been started for 1,000 college and high school teachers to staff the "schools," he reported. Most of the centers will be located in high schools equipped with good laboratory and library facilities, he added.

In order to keep scholastic standards as uniform as possible, advisory committees of area college presidents have been appointed to establish curriculum yardsticks, Steele said.

One of the major problems confronting coordinators was obtaining text books and similar supplies reportedly scarce throughout the country, he reported.

Steele said efforts would be made to place as many students as possible in regular colleges. Training centers would probably not be established in sections containing less than 200 rejected applicants, he added.

The 11-county north central area reportedly contained only 100.

Four centers each were expected to be located in the Pittsburgh and Philadelphia areas, three each in Lehigh county, Harrisburg and Scranton regions and one or two each in the remaining sections.

IN THE OPEN

The weekend brought a spell of wet weather which once again called a halt to my plans for visiting with the smallmouth bass in the hard-fished stream which traverses a deep valley some 30 miles from my doorway. From all reports the bass fishing so far has been "spotty" so perhaps I will find September a more productive month. The early season enthusiasts are usually out of the way by then and the big lunkers who paid no attention to anybody in the hot months will be going on the feed, stoking up for the winter ahead.

Flower Show

The mid-August flower show is now going full blast, so I put away the fishing rods and dressed for a struggle through the thick tangled in the barren old-fields below the house, to renew acquaintance with some of these wayside beauties. There is a small admission fee which the outdoorsman must pay to take in this flower show. He must be willing to step in the swampy stretches over his shoe tops now and then. He must take his chances with poison ivy and stinging nettle and he must be able to make his way more or less gracefully across wire fences and similar barriers of all sizes and description.

I crossed the backyard fence and waded through a patch of tall wild mustard, now gone to seed, and standing here and there. Clumsily I broke through a large web before I noticed the great garden spider which fled under a nearby milkweed leaf. This was the big black and yellow fellow known as the Miranda spider, quite common about our lawns and flower beds in late summer.

The Miranda has an entertaining habit of shaking its web vigorously when disturbed. I soon discovered another, taking life easy in the middle of a beautiful orb web, hung with great skill and good judgement above a wild flower bed which attracted goodly numbers of small bees and flies. I gave Miranda a light pat on the back. She immediately took umbrage and nearly tore the web loose from its moorings as she indicated violent displeasure.

Beautiful Spectacle
A short marshy stretch traverses this area. I stood on the edge of the swamp and took a first look at the flower spectacle. Orange jewel weed and its bigger pale yellow cousin bloomed in great profusion all about. The flowers hung like little jewel cases, bearing shining gems of nectar for the many honeybees swarming about the plants. The monkey flower was also much in evidence and I saw the brilliant blue spikes of great blue lobelia.

The white flower heads of boneset stood out in the center of the display, while the background consisted largely of tall wild sunflowers, with the sky-blue of chicory, still open in the shady spots, as an occasional color accent. Teazel was in bloom, standing about the fields in large colonies. Two or three varieties of smartweed contributed some flowers and a great deal of foliage to the general picture.

Wades through Marsh
I waded through the marsh and crossed into an abandoned stretch of bottomland, now grown into an almost impassable tangle of weedy growth. Here the evening primrose and the first of the golden rods furnished the color, while in the thicket edging this field great masses of garden phlox flamed deep pink. Pokeweed also bloomed in this thicket. The Indian tobacco, together with the common heal-all and wild carrot, were undercut everywhere.

The butterflies were out in full force to enjoy the flower show, paying their way by helping along with the pollination, and taking in return a fee of nectar for this service. There were a great many tiger swallowtails flying, together with a host of white cabbage butterflies and the little yellow sulphurs. The spangled fritillaries were also abroad and I saw one monarch and one of the eyed wood nymphs during the few hours I was afield.

No matter how often the outdoorsman walks his bailiwick there is always the possibility of a new discovery—some rare shrub or tree or flower which has escaped his eye on countless previous meanderings over the same terrain. As I plodded along through the thicket edging the field, perhaps a half-mile down the valley below the house, I practically fell over a beautiful but-

C.M.A. Young People Have Annual Picnic

Large Group Of Alliance Young People Enjoy Picnic At Franklin Avenue Home

Over 75 young people members of the Young People's society of the Christian and Missionary Alliance Tabernacle, 210 Pearson street, gathered at the home of Peggy Duncan Franklin avenue, Thursday evening, where they enjoyed their annual picnic.

The members of the society began assembling at 6:30 when they engaged in a game of mushball on the ball field adjoining the Duncan home. Others engaged in horseshoe pitching and some participated in ring games.

After an hour of hearty play, with time to work up a good appetite, the call was given to "come and eat" with the group descending on the refreshment table three and four deep. Hot dogs, coffee, cake and ice cream disappeared in mind-boggling quantities.

After the refreshment period, the young people enjoyed a "quiet time."

around the large bonfire, when choruses, led by Josephine Jenkins, were sung by all. Special feature of this period were the harmonies of the young people's quartet, composed of Gerald Haggerty, James Forsythe, Ralph Polding and Edward Jenkins. Personal testimonies were also given by the youths.

Helping to make the affair a success were the young people's president, Harry Karns, and his assistants, M. S. Gooldie Moon, Mrs. John Gwin, Miss Mary Haybarger and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Duncan, the hosts.

New Castle Woman's Car In Accident

Word was received here at noon today that the car of Miss Mary Gardner, 217 East Falls street, was wrecked in an auto accident at Mobile, Ala.

She was accompanied south by her mother, Mrs. Myrtle Gardner, according to reports. They were enroute to Florida and planned to stop at Mobile, Ala., where they were to be joined by relatives who were also to go to Florida.

Post-War Toys On Radical Side

Tot's Playthings Reveal That Atomic Age Is With Us; Toys Are Startling

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23.—(INS)—If you are still not convinced the atomic age is with us, just wait until you visit "toyland" around Christmas time.

The manufacturers held a preview of "things to come" in Pittsburgh today and here are some of the things that will plague "pop" as he nestles in his easy chair after a tiresome day at the office.

Junior, for example, may be the proud possessor of a "Buck Rogers" death ray pistol that is equipped with a special shield to protect him—but not his dad—from radioactivity.

Or else he may own an atom gun which shoots 50 squirts of water without reloading, or a double action atom bubble gun, which is guaranteed to fill the parlor full of soap bubbles in record time.

Go ahead. Take the guns away from Junior—and you'll really get yourself into trouble.

For he's apt to yank out one of those new-fangled radar games—a magic game with magic vision—which requires a workable knowledge of "radarisms," whatever that means.

And if Junior doesn't give a hoot about pistols, or shows no interest in "radarisms," don't think you're getting off scot-free.

Take that new "jeep" that the youngster doubtless will smash into an end-table before the winter is out.

All-Metal Job

The jeep is an all-metal job, equipped with a horn, electric headlights, hard rubber tires and a bright red-cushioned seat. Painted on the hood is the familiar army white star insignia. And if the price, estimated to retail for $35, doesn't drive you to you-know-what, then the raucous-sounding horn will.

Toys for the little girls are, as usual, a lot more sensible than those made for the boys.

Probably the most fascinating new item is a little electric washing machine, an exact replica of the one' mother has in the basement, with which your little daughter may wash her doll's clothes.

And no doubt she'll also want the new "magic skin" dolly, which, according to the manufacturer, has the "skin you love to touch." A wartime casualty—the "drinking and wetting" doll—also is back.

The youngster also will be "real, real good" if you promise her some plastic furniture sets.

One final word, pop. Relax now. Christmas is only 125 days away.

Notice

I will not be responsible, nor pay for any debts, contracted by anyone other than myself.

Clem-Moore, Walmo Schools Will Open On September 4

Tentative Bus Schedule Given For Children Who Will Be Riding
Buses To School

Neshannock township schools will open for the 1946-47 school term on Wednesday, September 4, at 9 a.m., according to an announcement from Hugh T. Chapin, principal of the schools.

Children entering the schools in the township from another district, are required to present report cards and vaccination certificates. First graders, who did not attend the clinic held last May at the schools, should present a vaccination and birth certificate.

The first day, school sessions will run only until noon with a full day's schedule being maintained beginning on Thursday, September 5.

The announcement released gave the bus schedule to be followed by the buses, that will pick up the children and return them to their homes. The tentative schedule will be the same as last year, and is as follows:

Bus No. 1, first trip, Puleksi road, 7:30 a.m.; King's Chapel, 7:35 a.m.; Glenn road, 7:40 a.m.; Green's Corners, 7:45 a.m.; Mitchell road, 7:50 a.m.; Walmo school, 7:55 a.m.; Glen-Moore school 8:05; Senior High school, 8:10 a.m. Second trip, King's Chapel, 8:20 a.m.; Walmo school, 8:30 a.m.; George Washington Junior high, 8:35 a.m.

Bus No. 2, Walmo school, 7:30 a.m.; Walmo corner, 7:35; Spiker avenue, 8 a.m.; Senior High school, 8:05; grade school township tool house, 8:12; Fisher's corner, 8:14; Mitchell school, 8:19; Green's corner, 8:21; Nesbitt road, 8:31; Walmo school, 8:38.

Bus No. 3, first trip, leave Grace-land, 7:30 a.m.; Painter Hill, 7:31; Wilmington road, 7:38; Bockman's corner, 7:39; Tanner's corner, 7:46; Senior High, 8 a.m. Second trip, Graceland bridge, 8:16; Painter Hill, 8:20; Black's corner, 8:23; Bockman's corner, 8:28; tool house, 8:33; Walmo school, 8:40.

Questions concerning the Neshannock township schools will be answered if township residents will call at the Clem-Moore school on Wednesday, Thursday or Friday of next week, from 9 to 12 a.m. or at the Walmo school, on the same days from 1 to 4 p.m.

Probe Nitro Plant Blast

NITRO, W. Va., Aug. 23.—(INS)—An investigation was underway today to determine the cause of the tremendous explosion in the Ohio-Apex Inc. nitro plant, killing two persons and injuring nine others.

Plant Manager Bernhard Jacobson listed the dead as Delmar Scrolling, 37, whose mangled body was found six hours after the blast in the mass of twisted wreckage and Lorraine Kilcore, 40, who died in a local hospital from severe burns.

The explosion, which ripped 600 feet of roof from the building and shattered windows throughout this little community, caused damage over $100,000, Jacobson estimated.

Further Experiment Will Be Made

At Metropolitan Paving

Brick Plant

Metropolitan Paving Brick company has been conducting experiments at their Bessemer plant in the use of fuel oil in firing the kilns.

The company has heretofore been using slack coal. In the new system, which is experimental, fuel oil is being tried and has proved a great success, it was stated by R. C. Wallis, official of the plant.

Work on installing the equipment for the experiment began in the latter part of June. The company uses a Hoffman type kiln with 206 chambers; of these 20 were prepared for the experiment. The equipment used was borrowed from another plant, Mr. Wallis said.

In the new system, fuel oil is kept in a huge storage tank at a temperature of 175 degrees by means of steam coils inside the tank. The oil is pumped through the whole system under pressure. After the oil is atomized, it is fired and forced through the kiln by blowers. The bricks are fired for about two weeks.

Using oil makes it easier to control the temperature in the kiln by regulating the pressure and volume of the spray. The system requires careful and constant supervision.

One more experiment is to be tried. The first was on small building bricks; the second experiment will be with paving bricks. The second experiment will start near the first of September.

Although the experiments are very expensive, officials of the plant hope that in the long run operating costs will be lower than with coal and will result in a better product.

"Anti-Caste" Rulings To Give Average Soldier Better Life In Armed Forces

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—(INS)—The War department announced Monday action taken to step up GI's in the army in accordance with proposals by the Doolittle board to narrow the gap between enlisted men and officers.

The department revealed that these anti-caste actions included instigation of studies aimed at providing enlisted men with clubs comparable to those enjoyed by officers.

This plan for an "equitable system" for operation of clubs was said to be based on the number of personnel using each facility.

Another new step taken by the department involved review by the general staff of the army's system of awards and decorations to assure that standards by which units or military personnel are honored will be applied in uniform manner.

Secretary of War Patterson said that "this change cannot effect past inequities that may have existed, but it can insure future uniformity." The caste investigating board headed by Lt. Gen. James Doolittle recommended to Patterson last May that awards be granted on the basis of merit rather than rank so as not to cheapen them.

Action Taken.

Action taken recently, some by legislation, include:

1. More cash in GI Joe's pockets as result of increased pay on a sliding scale, ranging from 50 per cent for privates to 10 per cent for field, grade and general officers.

2. Terminal leave pay for enlisted men on the same basis as officers.

3. Identical uniforms for enlisted men and "brass," except for insignia, effective July 1, 1946.

4. Abolition of saluting while off duty and away from Army installations in this country.

5. Elimination in Army directives of discriminatory references as between officers and enlisted men and their families.

6. Inclusion of courses in the psychology of leadership at West Point and various institutions in the Army school system and organization of a central officers assignment group to improve leadership in the Army.

7. An improved procedure for registering complaints and constant surveillance by the inspector general of the Army of the operation of this system.

8. Plans for area and community civilian advisory groups to improve military-civilian relationships since the Army is "a citizen's army."

"Moreover, Army caste investigations are here to stay. The department disclosed that the personnel and administration division of the general staff has been assigned to study continually the problem of officer-enlisted man relationships.

PIONEER RETIRES

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—(INS)—Dr. Lynn B. Mitchell, Latin and Greek professor at the University of New Mexico since 1912, has retired after 34 years of service. During his long tenure at the institution, Dr. Mitchell has watched the enrollment grow from 96 to more than 2,000. He gave the first course of Greek and Latin classic, in translation in the United States.

Three City Youths Marine Applicants

Three more city youths have made application for admission into the U. S. Marine Corps. It was announced today by S-Sgt. Rheal P. Freschette, recruiting chief.

Harold Session, 363 Mahoning avenue, was rejected at the local station for physical reasons. Gene R. Pavla, 411 Duquesne street, and Donald E. Cioffi, 25 East Reynolds street, had their applications accepted and will report to Pittsburgh for further examination.

Cioffi is a veteran of three years in the U. S. Navy and served in the European theater as a seaman, first class. He earned the ETO ribbon, the Victory medal and the Purple Heart.

Both applicants desire two-year enlistments in the corps.

When To Buy Discussed In Article By Babson

(By ROGER W. BABSON)
GLOUCESTER, Mass., Aug. 23.—Many businesses are still feeling the effects of the strikes in the steel and coal industries. Shortages of raw materials, plus increased costs of production due to wage increases and OPA regulations on sales do not give incentive to mass production of goods. Some companies have preferred to remain out of the active market rather than risk getting into trouble with the OPA. Typical of this kind have been the big meat Roger W. Babson-packers. Recently, with OPA restrictions off, some of the packers, after several months absence from the market, were again bidding for livestock.

The price rises which have come in the wake of higher wages have not yet proved discouraging to those who have war savings to spend. This clamor for already scarce goods helps make the situation worse. Although one big company, close to 1941 production, is turning out thousands of washing machines and refrigerators daily and the production of other commodities is speedily rising, the demand for most things is still greater than the supply.

Insist On Good Quality

It may be some time before prices can be adjusted into better balance with wages and the old law of supply and demand can again operate. In the meantime, there are bound to be some compromises with quality. Higher wages and costs, plus price ceilings, have encouraged these compromises. Wise housewives will object to paying the same old price, or a higher one, for poorer materials. Although department store sales have increased greatly over a year ago, a tendency to bypass shoddy merchandise has begun to be apparent. In many cases, as in the furniture business where there is a shortage of seasoned lumber, the output will probably be designed to fill the demand and not necessarily for enduring satisfaction.

Have Patience To Wait

How long must we wait to buy? The United States Department of Agriculture says food commodity price rises may be stopped with a bumper crop this coming harvest.

It claims that if the good weather continues, the U. S. should have a 28% greater corn supply than in the normal year. Corn syrup and starch are, for example, now up 25% in price. These should come down. With good crops in other countries, our harvest should be a large factor in easing the world food situation. Then the grains and all their products, including bread, should begin to be less expensive.

Patience to wait was rewarded recently in Florida where the public's antipathy to a high price for butter caused a rivalry between two stores. This made their price of butter fall from seventy-seven to nineteen cents a pound in one day!

Some food retailers are trying hard to "hold the line", and are in certain cases urging customers not to buy. Of course buyers' strikes in any degree, can not last long against foods, or we go hungry. But on all the non-food commodities, those of us who have the patience to wait will sometime be rewarded by cheaper, or at least, better goods.

The Revived OPA

The 18% food price rise after the original OPA was made invalid

brought resistance all over the country in the form of buyers' strikes. Labor gave every indication of planning more strikes for more wage increases and used the buyers' strikes as a deliberate weapon to encourage a revived OPA. Perhaps this modified form of price control will prove a deterrent to further labor demands.

It is estimated that, in any case, the cost of living must continue to go up if wages are again increased. No OPA can stop it. With OPA prices would still rise. This, therefore, is a period in which to buy only what we need unless we are sure there will be no more strikes. The time to buy is when the supply of goods is ample and businesses are competing in improving their products with an eye to enticing the public. This ideal state of affairs may not come before 1948 although remember what I wrote last week about FISH!

Dean Park Teams Have Wiener Roast

Winding up the season's activities, a wiener roast and party was enjoyed by the Junior and Midget softball teams at Dean park this week.

A softball game which was hotly contested ended in a draw, according to the decision of Judges Lawrence DeGennaro and Pete Demos. When the "come and get it" was called, the gang of hungry boys attacked the food-laden table. A roast was given in honor of the midget team, and good wishes were extended. Singing around the bonfire was a highlight of the evening, and the tired boys were pleased with their playground session.

Playground Supervisor Dorothy Naples had had excellent co-operation from these boys, all of whom helped to make the playground a success. At the wiener roast, Miss Naples was assisted by Miss Helen De Vito.

Parades Feature Legion Program

Two Big Spectacles Are Presented At State Convention In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23.—(INS)—The state American Legion's invasion forces continued to take the normally staid Quaker city by storm today.

As the 28th annual convention of the Legion moved into its third day, the thousands of delegates and visitors mixed business with pleasure—and it was difficult to determine which in the greater amount.

Jollity and fun-making remained in the forefront of the convention activities last night, when Philadelphians were treated to a rare spectacle—or rather pair of spectacles.

Mummer's Parade

For the first time in history, the famous mummers staged a summer edition of their renowned New Year's Day parade and the fun-making 40 & 8 of the Legion put on one of their customarily uproarious, noisy demonstrations.

A half million persons lined mid-Philadelphia streets for the festivities.

But before the fun started, the Legion delegates engaged in a bitter battle on the convention floor over the question of admitting Seabees to membership.

The outcome of the sharp dispute was that the Seabees were eligible Legionnaires, but that the temporary U. S. Coast Guard reservists were not.

The battle over the eligibility of Seabees arose when John J. McFadden, of Clifton Heights, declared from the floor that a ruling of the judge advocate general's office holding that the Seabees were "not deemed to have served in the armed forces" was "shocking".

"The record of the Seabees", McFadden shouted, "speaks for itself. They were, literally, armed forces and a lot of them fought as armed forces. Furthermore, I maintain it is beyond dispute that they were members of the regular naval establishments."

An effort by other delegates to win eligibility for civilians who worked on Guam and Wake Island prior to the war and were captured by the Japs were shouted down.

Food Prices Much Higher Than 1939 U. S. Survey Shows

Bureau Of Labor Statistics Discloses Increase Of 80 Per Cent In Past Seven Years

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—(INS)—The bureau of labor statistics said today that food prices on July 15 were more than 80 per cent higher in 17 cities than they were in August, 1939.

Highest increase was in Memphis, Tenn., where food prices were 94.6 per cent higher than in 1939. Only 11 of 51 cities surveyed showed increases of less than 70 per cent, the lowest being Houston, Tex., where the rise was 64 per cent.

Food prices in general throughout the country jumped 13.8 per cent between mid-June and mid-July, while retail prices for consumers' goods advanced 5.8 per cent in the same period.

The food increase was the greatest price jump in history. The highest previous monthly rise was slightly more than nine per cent in April, 1917.

Meats increased 29.6 per cent in the month, and dairy products 21.2 per cent, while other foods rose only 3.7 per cent. Prices on foods on which subsidies were paid prior to July 1 averaged 18.8 per cent above the June 15 figures; non-subsidy foods jumped 4.6 per cent.

Consumers' prices, however, on July 15 were 5.6 per cent below the all time high of June, 1920, but they were 42 per cent above August, 1939. Food, clothing and house furnishings were 77, 57 and 56 per cent higher, respectively, than at the beginning of World War II.

The consumers' price index for moderate-income families in large cities on July 15 was 141 per cent of the 1935-39 average, and nine per cent above a year ago.

Rents were not included in the bureau's survey, but will be reviewed in August and September.

The price rises which have come in the wake of higher wages have not yet proved discouraging to those who have war savings to spend. This clamor for already scarce goods helps make the situation worse. Although one big company, close to 1941 production, is turning out thousands of washing machines and refrigerators daily and the production of other commodities is speedily rising, the demand for most things is still greater than the supply.

It may be some time before prices can be adjusted into better balance with wages and the old law of supply and demand can again operate. In the meantime, there are bound to be some compromises with quality. Higher wages and costs, plus price ceilings, have encouraged these compromises. Wise housewives will object to paying the same old price, or a higher one, for poorer materials. Although department store sales have increased greatly over a year ago, a tendency to bypass shoddy merchandise has begun to be apparent. In many cases, as in the furniture business where there is a shortage of seasoned lumber, the output will probably be designed to fill the demand and not necessarily for enduring satisfaction.

Have Patience To Wait

How long must we wait to buy? The United States Department of Agriculture says food commodity price rises may be stopped with a bumper crop this coming harvest.

It claims that if the good weather continues, the U. S. should have a 28% greater corn supply than in the normal year. Corn syrup and starch are, for example, now up 25% in price. These should come down. With good crops in other countries, our harvest should be a large factor in easing the world food situation. Then the grains and all their products, including bread, should begin to be less expensive.

Patience to wait was rewarded recently in Florida where the public's antipathy to a high price for butter caused a rivalry between two stores. This made their price of butter fall from seventy-seven to nineteen cents a pound in one day!

Some food retailers are trying hard to "hold the line", and are in certain cases urging customers not to buy. Of course buyers' strikes in any degree, can not last long against foods, or we go hungry. But on all the non-food commodities, those of us who have the patience to wait will sometime be rewarded by cheaper, or at least, better goods.

brought resistance all over the country in the form of buyers' strikes. Labor gave every indication of planning more strikes for more wage increases and used the buyers' strikes as a deliberate weapon to encourage a revived OPA. Perhaps this modified form of price control will prove a deterrent to further labor demands.

It is estimated that, in any case, the cost of living must continue to go up if wages are again increased. No OPA can stop it. With OPA prices would still rise. This, therefore, is a period in which to buy only what we need unless we are sure there will be no more strikes. The time to buy is when the supply of goods is ample and businesses are competing in improving their products with an eye to enticing the public. This ideal state of affairs may not come before 1948 although remember what I wrote last week about FISH!

Dean Park Teams Have Wiener Roast

Winding up the season's activities, a wiener roast and party was enjoyed by the Junior and Midget softball teams at Dean park this week.

A softball game which was hotly contested ended in a draw, according to the decision of Judges Lawrence DeGennaro and Pete Demos.

When the "come and get it" was called, the gang of hungry boys attacked the food-laden table. A roast was given in honor of the midget team, and good wishes were extended. Singing around the bonfire was a highlight of the evening, and the tired boys were pleased with their playground session.

Playground Supervisor Dorothy Naples had had excellent co-operation from these boys, all of whom helped to make the playground a success. At the wiener roast, Miss Naples was assisted by Miss Helen De Vito.

Bureau Of Labor Statistics Discloses Increase Of 80 Per Cent In Past Seven Years

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—(INS)—The bureau of labor statistics said today that food prices on July 15 were more than 80 per cent higher in 17 cities than they were in August, 1939.

Highest increase was in Memphis, Tenn., where food prices were 94.6 per cent higher than in 1939. Only 11 of 51 cities surveyed showed increases of less than 70 per cent, the lowest being Houston, Tex., where the rise was 64 per cent.

Food prices in general throughout the country jumped 13.8 per cent between mid-June and mid-July, while retail prices for consumers' goods advanced 5.8 per cent in the same period.

When To Buy Discussed In Article By Babson

(By ROGER W. BABSON)
GLOUCESTER, Mass., Aug. 23.—Many businesses are still feeling the effects of the strikes in the steel and coal industries. Shortages of raw materials, plus increased costs of production due to wage increases and OPA regulations on sales do not give incentive to mass production of goods. Some companies have preferred to remain out of the active market rather than risk getting into trouble with the OPA. Typical of this kind have been the big meat

Roger W. Babson packers. Recently, with OPA restrictions off, some of the packers, after several months absence from the market, were again bidding for livestock.

The price rises which have come in the wake of higher wages have not yet proved discouraging to those who have war savings to spend. This clamor for already scarce goods helps make the situation worse. Although one big company, close to 1941 production, is turning out thousands of washing machines and refrigerators daily and the production of other commodities is speedily rising, the demand, for most things is still greater than the supply.

Two Big Spectacles Are Presented At State Convention In Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23.—(INS)—The state American Legion's invasion forces continued to take the normally staid Quaker city by storm today.

As the 28th annual convention of the Legion moved into its third day, the thousands of delegates and visitors mixed business with pleasure—and it was difficult to determine which in the greatest amount.

Jollity and fun-making remained in the forefront of the convention activities last night, when Philadelphians were treated to a rare spectacle—or rather pair of spectacles.

Mummer's Parade

For the first time in history, the famous mummers staged a summer edition of their renowned New Year's Day parade—and the fun-making 40 & 8 of the Legion put on one of their customarily uproarious, noisy demonstrations.

A half million persons lined Philadelphia streets for the festivities.

But before the fun started, the Legion delegates engaged in a bitter battle on the convention floor over the question of admitting Seabees to membership.

The outcome of the sharp dispute was that the Seabees were eligible Legionnaires, but that the temporary U. S. Coast Guard reservists were not.

The battle over the eligibility of Seabees arose when John J. McFadden of Clifton Heights, declared from the floor that a ruling of the judge advocate general's office holding that the Seabees were "not deemed to have served in the armed forces" was "shocking".

"The record of the Seabees", McFadden shouted, "speaks for itself. They were, literally, armed forces and a lot of them fought as armed forces. Furthermore, I maintain it is beyond dispute that they were members of the regular naval establishments."

An effort by other delegates to win eligibility for civilians who worked on Guam and Wake Island prior to the war and were captured by the Japs were shouted down.

Food prices in general throughout the country jumped 13.8 per cent between mid-June and mid-July, while retail prices for consumers' goods advanced 5.8 per cent in the same period.

The food increase was the greatest price jump in history. The highest previous monthly rise was slightly more than nine per cent in April, 1917.

Meats increased 29.6 per cent in the month, and dairy products 21.2 per cent, while other foods rose only 3.7 per cent. Prices on foods on which subsidies were paid prior to July 1 averaged 18.8 per cent above the June 15 figures; non-subsidy foods jumped 4.6 per cent.

Food provided the greatest increase in the retail price index. Clothing and house furnishings arose only 0.4 and 0.5 per cent respectively in the June 15-July 15 period, and costs of miscellaneous goods and services actually declined 0.1 per cent.

Consumers' prices, however, on July 15 were 5.6 per cent below the all time high of June, 1920, but they were 43 per cent above August, 1939.

Food, clothing and house furnishings were 77, 57 and 56 per cent higher, respectively, than at the beginning of World War II.

The consumers' price index for moderate-income families in large cities on July 15 was 141 per cent of the 1935-39 average, and nine per cent above a year ago.

State Is Protesting Highway Work Ban

HARRISBURG, Aug. 23.—(INS)—The State Highway Department was under orders today from Gov. Edward Martin to press for the lifting of federal restrictions which are to defer indefinitely a $37,000,000 commonwealth road program.

A spokesman for Governor Martin said everything possible would be done to persuade Washington authorities to withdraw objections to the immediate undertaking of state highway projects.

A protest against the postponement of federal-aid projects in the state has been filed by Secretary of Highways Ray F. Smock.

U. S. Commissioner of Roads Thomas H. McDonald has advised Smock of President Truman's new policy of "deferring all postponable public works projects." In addition the president has requested that expenditures for federal-aid highway projects be held to a minimum during the 1947 fiscal year, it was added.

McDonald also pointed out that federal directives imposed a moratorium on new commitments for construction by the federal government between August 6 and September 30.

Directives specified that no federal agency could begin construction projects between October 1 of this year and March 31, 1947, without prior approval.

Pennsylvania's allocation from the federal government in the fiscal year beginning July 1 of this year totaled $24,973,006 and the estimated cost of other U. S.-aided projects will amount to $7,000,000.

County Included In Distribution Of License Funds

Lawrence County will receive $15,354.44 as their share of the quarterly distribution of a $7,000,000 appropriation from the motor license fund, it was announced today by G. Harold Wagner, auditor-general. Cities, boroughs, first and second class townships of the commonwealth will receive a total of $1,675,002.50.

Breakdown of the county distribution, which can only be used for street, road and bridge construction, repair and maintenance, is as follows:

Cities: New Castle, $6608.54; Boro-uhs: Bessemer, $302.18; Elizabethtown, $2,080.02; Wampum, $194.74; Townships: Big Beaver, $472.65; Hickory, $524.13; Mahoning, $882.13; Neshannock, $324.11; North Beaver, $1,401.59; Perry, $564.97; Pulaski, $751.10; Scott, $194.5; Taylor, $255.52; Wilmington, $810.71.

Mass Replacement Of Ukrainian Reds Ordered By Moscow

Pravda Paper Claims There Had Even Mistakes Selecting Party Members

LONDON, Aug. 23.—(INS)—A dispatch to the London Evening Star today quoted an announcement in the Moscow newspaper, Pravda which said a mass replacement of leading members of the Ukrainian Communist party is in progress.

Pravda, leading communist organ, said there had been mistakes in selecting party members.

New York, Aug. 23.—A CBS correspondent in Moscow reported today that serious errors and shortcomings had been uncovered in the community party work in the Ukraine.

The correspondent also quoted an official announcement saying every official of the communist party will have to go to special party schools to take courses in Bolshevik theory.

Incident Not Dropped

PARIS, Aug. 23.—Highly authoritative American sources in Paris said today Yugoslavia's release of the first group of interned U. S. airmen does not mean that Washington will drop its plan to refer the matter to the U. N. Security Council.

These sources said reference of the issue to the Security Council for "prompt and appropriate action" depends now on what has happened to the crew of the second plane.

One source close to Secretary of State Byrnes said that if the dead bodies of American boys were aboard the second plane should be found on some lonely Yugoslav mountainside, the matter will unquestionably be referred to the U. N.

Official American sources emphasized that the release of the first group of fliers by no means closes the incident.

I cannot emphasize this too

That, in my estimation, is the chief lesson to be learned from Bikini.

Two New Castle Men Injured In New York Crash

PARIS, Aug. 23.—(INS)—Sources close to Soviet quarters in Paris disclosed today that Moscow would soon raise a protest to sole U. S. control of the Panama Canal and British domination of the Gibraltar and Suez waterways.

These points are said to be implicated in the Soviet reply to the Washington and London notes on the future of the Dardanelles. The U. S. and Britain are vital to Russian security, while other waterways such as Panama, Suez and Gibraltar are controlled individually by Britain
and the United States.

1. Russia will not agree to international control of the Dardanelles, viewed as vital to Russian security, while other waterways such as Panama, Suez and Gibraltar are controlled individually by Britain
and the United States.

2. International control of the Dardanelles through the United Nations would be ineffective if Turkey alone is responsible for defense of the strait. The U. S. suggested that the strait be turned over to Turkey.

3. The Soviet Union will not reject the principle of internationalization if it is applied to all strategic waterways throughout the world.

Nation-Wide Trend
Of Delinquency Seen
As Heirens' Aftermath

PEORIA, Ill.—Chicago's William George Heirens, the nation's current sex-psychology-and-slavery sensation, commonly is called a "confessed triple killer."

In addition to the three deaths thus laid directly to his door, reference also often is made to several other major and minor misdemeanors he is alleged to have personally committed.

But, for obvious reasons of utility, little effort is made to tally the countless list of crimes across the country which can be traced, at least indirectly, to the Heirens' trend.

Nor has anyone stood up in class to comment that a lot of police officials, lawyers, psychologists, doctors, nurses, criminologists, detectives (and this hurts) newspapermen have unwittingly contributed to the trend.

Effect Is Noticed

Traveling across the country during the three weeks or so since the Heirens' case got hot again this correspondent has been in a position to notice its effect on juvenile delinquency and junior league crime in community after community.

In a little Kansas town, three teen-agers were picked up after a spree of house-breaking and robbery. They came from well-to-do families and had liberal allowances and no apparent cause whatever to embark on second-story careers.

Yet they did. Why? "They have been reading the Heirens' case," said the policeman who finally nabbed them. "They said they got a thrill out of it, so wanted to try it."

During subsequent days, newspapers in Kansas City, St. Louis and Chattanooga, Tenn., carried stories which followed the formulas so closely that average citizens were agreeing the inspiration obviously came from the Heirens' case.

At Danville, Ill., the other day, a youth confessed killing a girl—but as first claimed he had no idea why he did it. He had no reason, he said. He just wanted to kill. He didn't know why.

Later, he changed his story and sex entered the picture, but where do you suppose he got the idea for that first type of defense? Had he stuck by it, he, too, soon would have been surrounded by psychologists.

Another youth, charged with murder in a town I recently visited, is blandly claiming he doesn't know what makes him do such things—actually, he's not the same person at times like that, he says.

That excuse has been on the up-train ever since the Jekyll-Hyde angle entered the Heirens' case. We had a personal example of it here in Illinois the other day.

Driving along the road, we picked up a hitch-hiker—a big, clean-looking intelligent kid—and let him ride in the back seat. About 19 years old, he carried on a pleasant conversation and was good company.

Purse Rifled

But when he left, a purse had been rifled in the back seat and a billfold with about $12 and some important personal papers was missing. Hoping to recover the papers, at least, we hurried back to the place where we had let him out and found a state patrolman.

Luckily, he recognized the boy from our description, and knew where to find him. We went along to identify the youth. Although he had spent part of the money—which he paid back—he still had the billfold. To end that phase of the story, we filed no charges, and the patrolman let him go with a lecture.

But here's the point: That kid was a hard-working farm boy who had his own bank account and didn't need the money. Why then, did he do it, and what was his defense?

"I don't know what makes me do things like that," he kept saying to the patrolman. "You know I don't have to; you know I've got money. (The officer nodded) but sometimes, when I do things like that, I'm not the same guy. It's like somebody else was doing it."

Well, there you are. Understand, I'm not trying to criticize the people who have contributed to making a three-ring circus out of the Heirens' case. Individually, they're only doing their job as best they can—and certainly each of them, from psychologist to newspaperman, has a legitimate interest in the case and must do his job.

But I hope they get it done soon—get Heirens hung, or jailed for life or committed to an asylum or whatever they're going to do.

Only that, and the subsequent period of silence out of the smart Chicago slayer, will stop this trend.

"They have been reading the Heirens' case," said the policeman who finally nabbed them. "They said they got a thrill out of it, so wanted to try it."

During subsequent days, newspapers in Kansas City, St. Louis and Chattanooga, Tenn., carried stories which followed the formulas so closely that average citizens were agreeing the inspiration obviously came from the Heirens' case.

At Danville, Ill., the other day, a youth confessed killing a girl—but as first claimed he had no idea why he did it. He had no reason, he said. He just wanted to kill. He didn't know why.

Later, he changed his story and sex entered the picture, but where members of the Plain Grove 4-H Club met at the home of Shirley and Dolly Brown on August 20. During a short business meeting Donna Neely gave a report of 4-H week at Penn State, which she attended.

A regular work period followed which taught the making of button-holes. Reports were filled out and instructions were given on round-up which will be held at the First U. P. church in New Castle.

Refreshments were served by the hostess. Next meeting will be held at the home of Amelia Alessio on August 27 at 9:30 a. m.

Busy Beavers

Busy Beavers Club of Big Beaver township met at the home of Barbara McKinney on August 21 for an Open House Night with the mothers of the girls as special guests.

President Marlene Harper led the club pledge, followed by the song "God Bless America" led by Helen Gerlach.

Roll call "A Favorite Flower Arrangement" telling the kind of flower and suitable color and placing or kind of table or place by 11 members with the total of 22 present.

Marjorie McAnlis gave an interesting talk on the highlights on her trip to club week at State College on August 12-15 and announced that the Busy Beaver Club exhibit won the second prize. This exhibit consisted of the club scrapbook, postures and flower arrangements.

Round up was announced for August 30 at 10 o'clock in the First U. P. church, New Castle, for all 4-H Club members of Lawrence county.

Hostesses for the evening were Marjorie McAnlis and Thelma Jackson.

Talks and demonstrations were given by the following: Helen Gerlach, flower arrangements; Bernice Nicholson and Joann McBride, bedmaking; Margaret Mohoney, care of bedroom and preparation of guests room. Shirley Hairhogger had charge of the games, assisted by war leads to war.

Theory Of Ostrich

"That is the theory of the ostrich," he declared.

Although the army has done a splendid demobilization job, Eddy added, it is trying at the same time to build a force which will ensure the peace and tranquility for which we fought.

The two-star general scored officers who abuse their privileges, but added that if distinctions based on rank are to be eliminated, "We might just as well be consistent and do it in civil life by eliminating distinctions based on official position."

"We have the most democratic army of any in the world," general Eddy said.

"This is evidenced by the fact that of 900,000 officers in this war, more than 531,000 were commissioned from the ranks."

Y Boys Enjoy
Pittsburgh Trip

Tired but happy 52 youngsters of the Y. M. C. A. returned to the city Thursday evening following an all-day visit to many points of interest in Pittsburgh.

The second such trip arranged by the association this summer, the group traveled by bus to the Steel City, stopping first at Highland Park, where they visited the zoo. From this point they went to Schenley Park, ate their lunch and then spent an hour in the museum. The trip concluded with the boys attending the "sky show" at the Buhl Planetarium.

David Gatral, boys' work director; John Thompson and Jimmy Pears, assistants, were in charge of the boys during the trip.

do you suppose he got the idea for that first type of defense? Had he stuck by it, he, too, soon would have been surrounded by psychologists.

Another youth, charged with murder in a town I recently visited, is blandly claiming he doesn't know what makes him do such things—actually, he's not the same person at times like that, he says.

That excuse has been on the up-trend ever since the Jekyll-Hyde angle entered the Heirens' case. We had a personal example of it here in Illinois the other day.

Driving along the road, we picked up a hitch-hiker—a big, clean-looking intelligent kid—and let him ride in the back seat. About 19 years old, he carried on a pleasant conversation and was good company.

Purse Rifled

But when he left, a purse had been rifled in the back seat and a billfold with about $12 and some important personal papers was missing. Hoping to recover the papers, at least, we hurried back to the place where we had let him out and found a state patrolman.

Luckily, he recognized the boy from our description, and knew where to find him. We went along to identify the youth. Although he had spent part of the money—which he paid back—he still had the billfold. To end that phase of the story, we filed no charges, and the patrolman let him go with a lecture.

But here's the point: That kid was a hard-working farm boy who had his own bank account and didn't need the money. Why then, did he do it, and what was his defense?

Individually, they're only doing their job as best they can—and certainly each of them, from psychologist to newspaperman, has a legitimate interest in the case and must do his job.

But I hope they get it done soon—get Heirens hung, or jailed for life or committed to an asylum or whatever they're going to do.

Only that, and the subsequent period of silence out of the smart Chicago slayer, will stop this trend.

Effect Is Noticed

Traveling across the country during the three weeks or so since the Heirens' case got hot again this correspondent has been in a position to notice its effect on juvenile delinquency and junior league crime in community after community.

In a little Kansas town, three teen-agers were picked up after a spree of house-breaking and robbery. They came from well-to-do families and had liberal allowances and no apparent cause "whatever to embark on second-story careers."

Yet they did. Why?

"They have been reading the Heirens' case," said the policeman who finally nabbed them. "They said they got a thrill out of it, so wanted to try it."

During subsequent days, newspapers in Kansas City, St. Louis and Chattanooga, Tenn., carried stories which followed the formula so closely that average citizens were agreeing the inspiration obviously came from the Heirens' case.

Johnson Bronze Picnic Saturday

Huge Crowd Expected To Throng Cascade Park For Annual Outing Of Company

Employees of the Johnson Bronze company, their families and friends will gather at Cascade Park Saturday morning for the annual outing of the company, and one of the largest turnouts in recent years is predicted.

For the past thirty days the picnic committee of the Johnson Bronze Employees Association under the capable direction of E. D. Hawk has been working day and night. All types of athletic events and contests for folks of all ages have been arranged. Hundreds of beautiful and valuable prizes, donated by the merchants and business men of our community are ready for the winners.

The first event of the day will be a baseball game between the day turn and the night shift. This will take place at 10 a.m. Then starting at 2 p.m. there will be horse shoe pitching, races for all ages and groups, dancing contests and until 5:30 p.m. Between 5:30 and 7 p.m., the grove will be the main attraction with a basket lunch. Free coffee and ice cream will be served.

Free Tickets

All children will receive a collection of tickets that will permit free rides on the various concessions and free refreshments. In the evening there will be an amateur show presided over by Harold McCarty. The wind-up will be an amateur boxing show with six outstanding leather pushers.

In discussing the program with the association president, Joe Daugherty, he predicted that a crowd of over 5000 will be in attendance—rain or shine. Johnson Bronze picnics has always been well attended in the past and with the increased employment and the return of about 500 veterans this year should top them all.

Delay Probe Into Mashank's Death

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23.—(INS)—The coroner's office announced today that an inquest into the death of Assistant United States District Attorney George Mashank probably will not be held until the middle of September.

The 47-year-old attorney died following a scuffle in a downtown Pittsburgh hotel. Thomas F. Manning, was held under $5000 bond on a charge of manslaughter.

A column high requiem mass will be sung for the attorney tomorrow in St. Joseph's Catholic church, Sharon.

Describes Feelings In Eight-Story Fall From Hotel

CHICAGO, Aug. 23.—(INS)—An attractive, 27-year-old blonde who leaped from an eighth floor window of a Chicago hotel—and lived to tell about it—today detailed how she felt hurtling toward the street.

Mrs. Marge Kauffman thus described it:

"I just sort of drifted toward the ground. It was slow and easy, just like falling asleep".

Mrs. Kauffman suffered only a broken collar bone, three fractured ribs and a few bruises in the leap three weeks ago. Her fall was cushioned when she landed on the hood of a parked automobile.

She said the incident ended an argument with her husband, Theodore, 27, who had asked for a divorce.

Mrs. Kauffman said their differences, now reconciled, arose from his preference for the big city while she liked the small town because "life in a big city can get so dull".

Dr. A. R. Robinson
Taken By Death

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23.—(INS)—Funeral services were being arranged today for the Rev. Dr. Archibald R. Robinson, former moderator of the general assembly of the United Presbyterian church of North America, who died suddenly of a heart attack. He was 77.

His passing came shortly after his retirement as pastor of the Sixth United Presbyterian church, the second largest United Presbyterian congregation in Pittsburgh. He is survived by two sons.

TO RATIFY AGREEMENT
JEANNETTE, Pa., Aug. 23.—(INS)—Approximately 2000 CIO-United Rubber Workers will stage a mass meeting tomorrow to ratify a "tentative agreement" union officials reached with management in the nine-week strike at the Pennsylvania Rubber Company plant in Jeannette.

P. C. Mathewson, company vice president, announced that the "strike is over", but refused to give any details of the settlement.

COLUMBIANA, Aug. 23.—Thousands are expected to view the spectacle here next Saturday of a procession of motor vehicles used in the early years of motoring, some models dating back as much as four decades.

Tents are being set up at Firestone Farms, east of town, which will be the terminus of this repetition of the Glidden tours of several decades ago. There will be a dining tent where the tourists will be regaled with a chicken-noodle dinner as they were by Harvey S. Firestone Sr. at the end of the tours of bygone years. There will be several other tents, including an exhibit tent, and one to serve as the big kitchen.

We are the only country left on earth with enough money or credit to back any business on a big scale. But just as rapidly as the clock is ticking off the seconds the value of our money is on the way down. Any school boy could tell you that if we keep on borrowing money to pay the terrific salaries of the bureaucrats and re-finance a busted world, the day will be heading our way with the speed of light when we won't have anything either. The great heads in Washington keep running scarecrows to frighten us about inflation, contending that only "regulation" and rationing and ceilings with them on the job, will prevent it. The fact is that they themselves will be responsible for inflation if it ever gets out of hand. Too much money, cheap money, brings inflation. And today we have twenty-eight billion dollars floating around the country when ten or twelve billion dollars was the usual amount in circulation.

The reason we have twenty-eight billion dollars is that every time the government borrows another billion from the Federal Reserve Bank it gives the Bank authority to print and float a large percentage of it in paper money to cash the checks. The only guarantee behind that sheet of paper money is the mortgage the government places on your home and your business and mine. And the only way the government can make good on its notes and bonds is to tax it out of you, and if you can't pay your taxes they take your home away from you and sell them at auction to pay your tax bill.

Following a conference with Federal Conciliator Charles Kutz, the mayor said he didn't intend to interfere any more for the present but I hope they settle their difficulties soon.

The threatened strike would virtually black out metropolitan Pittsburgh.

Suckers? Certainly you are we are. It may be tough or embarrassing to admit it, but it is infinitely worse when we are not ready or willing to do anything about it.

Frankly, I am still holding out that this is a grand and beloved country of ours and that we manage some way to retain at least enough sound sense to keep outsiders from slipping a noose around our necks and making slaves of us. If we are bound to be suckers, let us be suckers among ourselves, free to be or not to be as we ourselves see fit.

You can remember, if you are above the egg-sucking age, when a man earned a dollar it was his to do with as he chose. If he owned a farm, factory or shop it was his to freely operate and make money if he had the know-how. Under that system Americans lived like kings compared with people elsewhere in the world. All of a sudden somebody got the idea that we were doing so well that we could send a bottle of milk to every blushing skirt around the globe who was either too lazy or too dumb to get it for themselves. Suckers? I'll say.

She sold most of Japan's silk and surplus rice and shipped her all of our junk metal, because she was a poor over-populated race that was trying to get along. And the next thing you know she was shooting it back at us. Suckers? What do you say?

We saved England from the Hunns in the first World War and loaned her several billions of dollars besides, and the best she could do was to call us unkind names when we wanted it back, so we saved her again in the next war, and loaned her a lot more money. Maybe we were suckers in this particular; I don't know.

Not content with this, we are shipping boatloads of food and clothing all over the world to aid the needy, made so by what they tried to do to us, only to discover that much of it is being diverted into black markets and not getting to the people for which these gifts were intended. Suckers? How about it?

Last, but not least, we are discovering that we were literally bilked out of our eyesight to the extent of billions of dollars by "the boys" around Washington, implementing the war effort. One outfit, the Garrison Brothers, penniless and starting without so much as a stick of wood, but knowing a few Congressmen, principally Congressman May of Kentucky, muscled into contracts for making bombs and things, and ran their shoestrings up to seventy-eight million dollars of good American money in their jeans. Other conscientious and honest Congressmen declare that this is merely peanuts in comparison with other makers of war supplies all the way from bully beef to munitions.

Most people were gravely suspicious at the time that the war was costing an awful lot, but they were too patriotic just then to set up a yelp. Now it is being estimated that crooked contractors aided by politicians close to the powers that be hooked and flimflammed the American taxpayers to the tune of thirty or forty billion dollars, with their cost plus deals, based on hurry and fear of losing the war.

President Truman is asking for Forty-five Billion Dollars to spend the coming year, taking care of these "commitments" that nobody had the power to authorize to make except that we are legally still at war. Suckers? Yeah. That is more than the whole country will earn the coming year. It is one-sixth of what our whole country is worth, lock, stock and barrel.

What America wants—all except a few bushy-haired job-holding do-gooders—is to get back to work, buy a new automobile and have ham and eggs for breakfast again. We are willing to spare a few bites for the hungry. We always have. But we have no taste for setting the whole world up in business again when all they want to do is to make atomic bombs and jet planes to shoot our boys dead in ten or fifteen years. No, we want to share the atomic secrets with everybody so they will be certain to get us. Suckers? Yes.

We are the only country left on earth with enough money or credit to back any business on a big scale. But just as rapidly as the clock is ticking off the seconds the value of our money is on the way down.

Any school boy could tell you that if we keep on borrowing money to pay the terrific salaries of the bureaucrats and re-flame a busted world, the day will be heading our way with the speed of light when we won't have anything either. The great heads in Washington keep running scarecrows to frighten us about inflation, contending that only "regulation" and rationing and ceilings with them on the job will prevent it. The fact is that they themselves will be responsible for inflation if it ever gets out of hand. Too much money, cheap money, brings inflation. And today we have twenty-eight billion dollars floating around the country when ten or twelve billion dollars was the usual amount in circulation.

The reason we have twenty-eight billion dollars is that every time the government borrows another billion from the Federal Reserve Bank it gives the Bank authority to print and float a large percentage of it in paper money to cash the checks. The only guarantee behind that sheet of paper money is the mortgage the government places on your home and your business and mine. And the only way the government can make good on its notes and bonds is to tax it out of you, and if you can't pay your taxes they take your home away from you and sell them at auction to pay your tax bill.

Suckers? Suckers!

Glidden Tour Will Conclude At Columbiana

COLUMBIANA, Aug. 23.—Thousands are expected to view the spectacle here next Saturday of a procession of motor vehicles used in the early years of motoring, some models dating back as much as four decades.

Tents are being set up at Firestone Farms, east of town, which will be the terminus of this repetition of the Glidden tour of several decades ago. There will be a dining tent, where the tourists will be regaled with a chicken-noodle dinner as they were by Harvey S.

Firestone Sr. at the end of the tour of bygone years. There will be several other tents, including an exhibit tent, and one to serve as the big kitchen.

Harvey S. Firestone Jr., who is directing arrangements for the termination of the tour here, wanted the dinner served as it was when his father directed arrangements here.

HIBERNIANS ELECT

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23.—(INS) — Patrick J. Sweeney of Philadelphia, today was named president of the Pennsylvania Ancient Order of Hibernians and his home city was selected as the site for the order's 4th convention next year.

Other officers elected at last night's closing session were Martin A. Henry, Pittsburgh, vice president; Frank E. Kneie, Pittsburgh, secretary, and William J. McClain, Homestead, treasurer.

Male Students At West Chester Are Under Quarantine

WEST CHESTER, Pa., Aug. 23.—(INS) — A case of infantile paralysis today forced closing of the West Chester State Teachers College and the quarantining of 100 male students for two weeks.

The victim was Roland Garland, 19, of Littlestown, Adams county, who had been living for the past three weeks with the hundred other students in a dormitory. He was reported in fair condition.

College officials said the post-summer session ended today, and the dormitory students who had left for their homes had been notified to remain at home for the two-week period.

JOINS PITT STAFF

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23.—(INS) — Col. J. C. Flanagan, who is credited with setting up the procedures for selecting airmen during the war, today has accepted a position in the psychological department at the University of Pittsburgh.

Col. Flanagan will teach research techniques, according to Dr. Wayne Dennis, head of the department.

MAYOR LAWRENCE STILL HAS HOPES OF AVERTING STRIKE

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23.—(INS) — Mayor David L. Lawrence still had hopes today that an agreement would be reached in the wage dispute between the Duquesne Light Company and its independent union before a proposed strike deadline—August 31.

Following a conference with Federal Conciliator Charles Kutz, the mayor said he didn't intend to interfere any more for the present but I hope they settle their difficulties soon.

The threatened strike would virtually black out metropolitan Pittsburgh.

Senator Hatch Says Peace Only Defense Against Their Destructiveness

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—(INS)—Sen. Hatch (D) N.M., coupled his return to Washington from the atomic bomb tests at Bikini with the warning that "bigger bombs are in the making" and that peace provides the only adequate defense against their destructiveness.

The New Mexico senator said he plans to report to President Truman upon the latter's return from his Atlantic cruise. The senator is chairman of the president's special committee for evaluation of the atomic bomb tests.

Hatch declared that the committee's third and final report on the tests would be made to the president "in about three months." Several preliminary reports have already been made, he pointed out.

The senator scoffed at reports that the armed forces failed to use their most powerful atomic bomb in the two mid-Pacific tests.

He stated:

More Powerful Bombs
"There are bigger and more powerful bombs in the making, but they were not yet available for the tests. However, the army and the navy used the latest model bomb. They pulled no punches. They gave it everything they had."

Hatch said the bombs used at Bikini were improvements over those dropped on Hiroshima and Nagasaki. He added that it was unfortunate that there was any "let down" in the world over the results of the bombs used in the tests. The results came up to expectations, he said.

The senator declared:

Bad Idea of Result
"While it's unfortunate that the public got the wrong impression of what to expect, such as huge tidal waves and chain reactions that might destroy the world, the scientists had no such delusions. They had a pretty good idea of what was going to occur."

Hatch revealed that both the army and the navy "cooperated one hundred percent" with the president's committee and "made available to us all the data and information they had."

In addition to Hatch, three other members of congress attended the tests as members of the president's committee. They were Sens. Saltonstall (R) Mass., and Reps. Hollister (D) Calif., and Andrews (R) N.Y.

SHIRLEY BELKNAP ACCORDED HONOR

Miss Shirley Belknap, of 846 Franklin avenue, was accorded a signal honor recently in Ashtabula, O., while visiting her grandmother, in that city.

Miss Belknap entered a "Design and Name It" contest in Ashtabula, and was judged the most original fashion designer of that city. The 17-year-old Miss will compete with others in a national contest, which will entitle the winner to a $250 Victory Bond and a paid expense trip to New York City.

Entries in the contest were designed on the order of back-to-school outfits and sports outfits.

Forrestal Says Plan Necessary To Ban A-Bomb

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—(INS)—Secretary of the Navy Forrestal declared Thursday that an "enforceable plan" must be adopted to ban the atom bomb, which Admiral W. H. P. Blandy described as the "most insidious weapon of all time."

Forrestal's statement was made at a news conference in which Blandy, "Operation Crossroads" chief, urged swift redesigning of naval vessels to enable them to withstand atomic attack.

Blandy, to emphasize his statement, read a message he had just received from Bikini saying that the U. S. S. Arkansas, one of the "guinea pig" fleet, was "upside down on the bottom."

The admiral recommended that continuous periodic tests be held to determine the most feasible design for naval vessels should the atomic missile be legalized as a weapon of war.

Forrestal, who attended the conference as an observer, interjected his assertion that a plan to outlaw the atom bomb must be adopted after Blandy said:

"We will get a mass of extremely valuable information from the tests in event the A-bomb is not outlawed. I want to see it outlawed, and not just a voluntary outlawing by the United States. We will not accept any treaty whereby everybody just renounces use of the bomb. It must be a workable plan acceptable by all nations."

HOPE TO BUILD HOME

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 23.—(INS)—Next week Don DeFore and his missus hope to start building their first house, which will be more than just a house. It will mark the first five happy years of their marriage, which has brought them a son and a daughter.

Don explained:

"We decided at the beginning that we'd wait five years before building a house to make certain we'd be definitely settled in the place we wanted to be. We're finally settled in Hollywood."

Don, of course, for more than ten years has been moving back and forth between New York and Hollywood, from the stage to the screen and back again.

He laughed and said:

Worst Time To Build
"We couldn't have picked a worse time than this to build, as anyone knows who's tried it."

"But, we made up our mind to build and we're going through with it."

"To make certain there are no set-backs, we engaged a contractor on a cost-plus basis, with the understanding we would furnish the materials."

Don conceded this has kept him very busy, because he's now working in Roy Del Ruth's million-dollar Monogram picture, "It Happened on Fifth Avenue."

"I got 16 kegs of nails from various places in the Mid-West," said Don, "after doing a lot of looking around, I found a concern here to furnish the lumber."

"My wife has made some of the arrangements. She's done wonderfully. Some women are really smart, aren't they?"

Playground Season

Lucille Copple wore a white marquisette bridesmaid's outfit with a powder blue hat, while Betty Ann Perrotta's bridesmaid's outfit was demure in a colonial outfit complete with pantaloons. The girls presented a mock wedding, and presented a little dance. Lucille Copple also sang "You Won't Be Satisfied".

A candy treat was served, with extra candy being given as a prize to the participants in the show.

At the Gaston Park Play day on Thursday the playground's junior softball team licked the George Washington team 15-2, to win the city championship for the third straight year. Mary Ann Perrotta, also of Mahoning playground, won the jacks championship. Playground leaders emblem were awarded to John Spina, Tommy Naples and Florence Barattiero.

Miss Angelina Castrucci has been the supervisor this summer.

While waiting on a city bus at the Pennsylvania railroad crossing on Mahoning avenue for a passing freight train we were interested to see the various railroads represented by the cars making up the train.

Beside the Pennsylvania railroad cars were the Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Nickel Plate, Milwaukee, Great Northern, Canadian Pacific, B. & O., Southern, New York Central, SOO Line, and the Wabash—roads that cover a large area of this country.

Young Pilot Dies
In Plane Crash

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 23.—(INS)—A 21-year-old former Pottsville army air forces cadet was dead today, victim of a crash which occurred one-half hour after he obtained his private pilot's license.

The victim was Francis Mildoway, who was flying back to the Gordon airport, 15 miles northwest of Pottsville, when the plane crashed into the top of a 60-foot oak tree on the edge of a cemetery.

Witnesses said the youth had been stunting the plane which went into a spin. Clarence Hartranft, a farmer, said the plane recovered from the spin but was low and crashed into the tree at the burial grounds, five miles from Pottsville. The craft did not burn.

Sen. Myers Claims Soviet Has Precipitated So-Called "Incidents"
In Europe

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 23.—(INS)—
U. S. Sen. Francis J. Myers (D)
Pa., declared Thursday that the "accumulation of so-called incients" to which American servicemen have been subjected in Europe and the Far East, were "deliberate acts of violence" precipitated by Russia.

Sen. Myers also recommended that UNRRA shipments to Yugoslavia be "terminated immediately until the U. S. receives an answer to last night's protest over the shooting down of American planes."

"I do not believe that another war in the near future is inevitable," Myers told the annual convention of the Pennsylvania department of the American Legion.

"However, we cannot dismiss as unimportant the accumulation of so-called incidents to which our servicemen in Europe and in the Far East have been subjected," he continued.

"They were deliberate acts of violence precipitated by our wartime ally and, we hope, peacetime friend,
Russia."

Myers charged that such "incients" have occurred at least once every 24 hours since V-J day.

"It is apparent," he added, "that they represent a calculated attempt to discourage the presence of Americans near Soviet dominated sectors of Europe and China."

The senator said he hoped such incidents would not lead to public clamoring for the withdrawal of U. S. troops from such sectors.

"That is precisely what Russia would like us to do," he pointed out.

He told the Legionnaires that it is up to them to "demand that our country pursue a policy of preparedness at all times."

The atom bomb, Myers asserted, will not succeed in preserving the peace.

CHOSES ARMY CAREER

FORT DIX, N. J.—(INS)—Commendational Medal of Honor winner
T-Sgt. Joseph E. Schaefer of Richmond Hill, L. I., N. Y., has re-enlisted in the army, setting his sights on the 20-year retirement offer.
Schaefer, who won the coveted medal in the German campaign already has eight years service in the army.

COL. JOHN S. RICE

John B. Shaw, county chairman of the Democratic party, said today that the four state-wide candidates and local candidates of the party would attend the county committee dinner in the Castleton hotel Monday night, August 26.

Col. John S. Rice, candidate for speaker, will be the principal speaker, but United States Senator Joseph F. Giffey will be present and speak as will John H. Dent, candidate for the lieutenant-governorship, and Al Schmidt, candidate for secretary of internal affairs.

"I do not believe that another
war in the near future is inevitable," Rice told the annual convention of the Pennsylvania department of the American Legion.

unimportant the accumulation of
so-called incidents to which our

Ultra-Modern Features For Veterans' Hospitals

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—(INS)—The war department revealed today ultra-modern features planned for 40 new veterans' hospitals to be constructed throughout the nation.

The department said that "the first and latest thinking" is behind the program which reflects experience gained by army engineers in hospital construction during the war.

The hospitals to be built for the Veterans administration were said to be designed "to make over the patient into a useful citizen again, a program in which medicine is only a part of the treatment."

New Advantages
These new advantages were revealed:

Every hospital will be provided a miniature department store, with sales and service. There will be a canteen, restaurant or cafeteria, general store, drug store supplies and a barber shop and beauty shop.

There will be a provision for indoor and out-door recreation, passive and active.

Patients will be permitted a broader selection of bedside radio programs and those unable to go to the auditorium for programs will be able to hear them anyway as a result of a special hook-up.

Delivery of oxygen to patients will be expedited by use of a central oxygen supply piped to rooms.

Special Rooms
There will be special rooms with filters and special air-treatment for patients suffering from asthma or other allergies and rooms for the

Murder Claimed
In Strangling
Death Of Child

HUNTINGDON, Pa., Aug. 23.—(INS)—Huntingdon County District Attorney I. Newton Taylor Thursday branded the strangulation death of two-year-old Barbara Jane Plank in her Rockhill Furnace home "a clear case of murder" as police of three states searched for the child's mother.

Army engineers have let architect-engineer contracts for 23 Veterans administration hospitals. Contractors for the remaining 17 hospitals are yet to be chosen.

Hospitals are located near the larger cities, whenever possible, so that they may be able to take advantage of the facilities of local medical centers.

CHILDREN OF TODAY
BETTER AT READING

CHICAGO.—School children today are better readers than their parents were, according to William S. Gray, professor of education at the University of Chicago.

"A recent survey in the seventh and eighth grades showed those boys and girls (in Detroit schools) were distinctly superior to students of 1828," the professor added.

Mr. Gray went on to say that teachers of past generations required an intensive type of reading pattern on a given amount of material.

"Today we are asking them to read widely, intensively, and for a greater variety of purposes," he said.

Apple Crop This Year
Triples 1945 Harvest

HARRISBURG, Aug. 23.—The indicated 1946 Pennsylvania commercial apple crop will be 10 per cent below that of two years ago, the most recent normal apple year, the Department of Agriculture announced following a Federal-State survey as of August 1.

However, this year's crop will be more than three times the size of the 1945 short crop, the records show.

The 1946 harvest of commercial apples in Pennsylvania is expected to total 8,190,000 bushels, which exceeded the 1945 crop by about 570,000 bushels. This year's estimated production is only 642,000 bushels below the 10-year average, 1935-1944. Last year's commercial apple crop of 2,470,000 bushels was the smallest in Pennsylvania for 24 years.

Pennsylvania apples attained excellent size under favorable July weather conditions. They improved to such an extent that production estimates were advanced by more than 1,000,000 bushels on August 1, the survey revealed.

Says Taxi Driver Committed Suicide

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 23.—(INS)—Lackawanna county coroner Paul E. Kubasco announced today that Angelo Cali, who was listed as a murder victim after his death Saturday, had committed suicide.

Cali, 27-year-old Dunmore taxi driver and former boxer, died in the Scranton State hospital as a result of two bullet wounds in the head.

Kubasco said an investigation disclosed that the weapon belonged to Cali and that the former fighter had lost heavily at gambling and was wanted for an assault last Wednesday on Harold O'Brien, of East Orange, N. J.

O'Brien told authorities that Cali had slugged and robbed him. Police admitted today that Cali had not been robbed as they first suspected, and closed the case.

Cali was found beside his wrecked cab along a highway near Scranton August 17.

TRAIN FOR AIRLINES

SYDNEY, Australia.—Girls who want to become airline hostesses in Australia are besieging companies with applications, but have to pass stringent tests. There's more to the job than wearing a glamour uniform and serving refreshments," a company official explains.

They must have a sound education, conversational ability, some nursing experience, a first aid certificate and pleasing appearance. They take a six weeks' training course.

BLOOMSBURG—A deer with an apparent desire for learning leaped through a window at Bloomsburg State Teachers' college, walked down a hall, down a flight of steps to the boiler room and then finding its road to freedom blocked, jumped a six-foot wall.

Seventh WardStyle Show Finishes
Playground Season

Finale of the Mahoning playground season was the fashion show given this week with girls of the playground as models.

Norma Jean Lombardo was "Queen Cotton" in a long cotton dress and cotton hair bow. Louise Baratieri wore a "majorette's" costume, and Evangeline Baratieri was demure in a colonial outfit complete with pant-sleeves. The girls presented a mock wedding, and presented a little dance. Lucille Copple also sang "You Won't Be Satisfied."

At the Gaston Park play day on Thursday the playground's junior softball team licked the George Washington team 15-2, to win the city championship for the third straight year. Mary Ann Perrotta, also of Mahoning playground, won the jacks championship. Playground leader emblems were awarded to John Spina, Tommy Naples and Florence Baratieri.

Miss Angelone Castrucci has been the supervisor this summer.

Varied Railroads Have Cars In Ward

While waiting on a city bus at the Pennsylvania railroad crossing on Mahoning avenue for a passing freight train we were interested to see the various railroads represented by the cars making up the train.

Beside the Pennsylvania railroad cars were the Santa Fe, Union Pacific, Nickel Plate, Milwaukee, Great Northern, Canadian Pacific, B. and O., Southern, New York Central, SOO Line, and the Wabash—roads that cover a large area of this country.

Young Pilot Dies
In Plane Crash

POTTSVILLE, Pa., Aug. 23.—(INS)—A 21-year-old former Pottsville army air forces cadet was dead today, victim of a crash which occurred one-half hour after he obtained his private pilot's license.

The victim was Francis Milioway, who was flying back to the Gordon airport, 15 miles northwest of Pottsville, when the plane crashed into the top of a 60-foot oak tree on the edge of a cemetery.

Witnesses said the youth had been stunting the plane which went into a spin. Clarence Hartman, a farmer, said the plane recovered from the spin but was low and crashed into the tree at the burial grounds, five miles from Pottsville. The craft did not burn.

Frank Gadzia Given Discharge

PIRATES BEATEN
IN TENTH INNING

By LES CONKLIN
(International News Service, Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—The St. Louis Cardinals are tied with Brooklyn for first place in the red-hot national league race today thanks to the slugging of Stan Musial and the pitching of Howie Pollet and Harry Brecheen.

All three of these stars were at their best in yesterday's synthetic twin bill with the Phillies. Pollet, in a relief role, stopped the Quakers in the afternoon, as Musial, who previously had clouted a triple and a single, connected in the 12th inning for a homer which gave the Cards a 7 to 6 decision.

Musial Stars

In the evening game, Musial's bat also played a prominent role as Brecheen downed the Phils 4 to 3. This ability of the Cardinals to win the close ones is the hallmark of a championship club.

While this Cole Porter (Night and Day) composition was being played, as one wag put it, the Dodgers were held to three hits and blanked 2 to 0 by Johnny Vander Meer, Cincinnati's original no-hitter.

Boston's Braves, working hard to take third place away from Chicago, advanced to within 2 1/2 games of the Cubs by beating them 3 to 2.

Giants Win in 10th

Pinch-hitter Jack Graham's long fly with a man on third base in the tenth inning enabled Monte Kennedy of the New York Giants to win the All-American football conference. Nine of the 38 will start against the Rams tonight.

Above this, three members of last year's great Ram team have "jumped" to the All-Americans. Biffy Center Mike Scarry and ballotters Tom Collella and Don Greenwood.

In consequence, there will be no more shown at Soldier Field tonight. The Rams are out for blood. The All-Stars, no matter what their future affiliations may be, are out to fleece the Ram.

It was only logical that the professionals should be the betting choice. If you like the Rams for tonight's festivities, you gave 8 to 5. If you string with the individual brilliance of the collegians, you got 7 to 5. This will be the 13th game in the spectacular pre-season series, and of the 12 played to date the pros have won seven, lost three and tied two.

White Sox Win

Chicago's White Sox racked up their first victory of the season in Boston. They tied the score with a three-run rally in the ninth and then won out in the eleventh, 4 to 3, on Don Kolloway's single.

Bob Feller failed as a relief pitcher as the Athletics scored three runs in the seventh inning to defeat Cleveland, 8 to 6.

The night game between Detroit and Washington was washed out.

Promoters have stopped trying to close a match between Billy Fox, the Philadelphia kayo puncher, and Tommy Yarosz, a promising light heavyweight from the western end of the commonwealth. . . . Yarosz managers, according to the promoters, want the fight and all the gate receipts, too.

Open New Section For Season Tickets

New Castle High Selling Tickets
In Section 5 For Seven Home Games

Due to an emergency situation, the New Castle School Board has authorized Ticket Manager J. H. Earl McKenzie of senior high to sell football tickets for all seven home games in section 5, adjoining the center section of the concrete stands, it was announced today.

There was such a heavy demand for tickets that this measure was deemed advisable. All of the seats in section 4 have been sold out. Many of the ex-servicemen returned home to find the choice seats gone, and this was one of the determining factors in arranging to sell section 5 as a season reserved section.

There are about 800 seats in section 5. These will go for $5.00 for all seven home games if bought in seven-game lots. The center section sold for $6.00 for the seven home games. The section 5 seats are from the 27 to the 40-yard line, and good seats.

All ticket orders to date have been filled by Mr. McKenzie, and the remainder of season tickets in section 5 will go on sale at the Sporting Goods Store starting Tuesday through Friday.

Elks-Wampum Clash Tonight

First Game of Final Series
To Get Under Way At Ewing Park Field

At 6 P. M.

With the pennant of the Lawrence County Baseball league at stake, Ellwood City's Elks and the Wampum Legion will tangle tonight at the Ewing Park field in Ellwood in the first game of their five-game series.

A large crowd is expected to turn out to see this titanic clash which pits the two top teams of the loop against each other for the final honors.

The Elks, winners of the loop banner in 1945, are out to again rule the circuit. They finished in first place in regular loop play. Wampum ended up in the No. 2 slot. In the elimination series, the Elks disposed of the Bessemer club twice running and Wampum cut down the New Galilee "Hot Tops" two in a row to gain the final play-offs.

Pitching selections for tonight's battle will be Ellsworth Bauder for the Elks and Frank Powell for the Legion.

City Leaguers Meet Tonight

Looking forward to the terrific championship series involving the Lawrence Indies first-half winners and the Universals second-half champs, the city baseball league managers, and officials, will have an important meeting this evening at 8:30 o'clock at Carm's Place on West Washington street.

It is hoped that the series teams can get together on a Sunday starting date for the great best out of five-game struggle for the pennant.

Umpire Meeting Slated Tonight

Dallas Hartman has called a meeting of all the umpires of the Lawrence County Association for tonight in the Y. M. C. A. building. The session is scheduled to begin at 8:15 p. m., and all officials are urged to attend.

Ultra-Modern Features For Veterans' Hospitals

WASHINGTON, Aug. 23.—(INS)—The war department revealed today that ultra-modern features planned for 40 new veterans' hospitals to be constructed throughout the nation.

The department said that "the first and latest thinking" is behind the program which reflects experience gained by army engineers in hospital construction during the war.

New Advantages

These new advantages were revealed:

Every hospital will be provided a miniature department store, with sales and service. There will be a canteen, restaurant or cafeteria, general store, drug store supplies and a barber shop and beauty shop.

There will be a provision for indoor and out-door recreation, passive and active.

Patients will be permitted a broader selection of bedside radio programs and those unable to go to the auditorium for programs will be able to hear them anyway as a result of a special hook-up.

Delivery of oxygen to patients will be expedited by use of a central oxygen supply piped to rooms.

Special Rooms

There will be special rooms with filters and special air-treatment for patients suffering from asthma or other allergies and rooms for the said.

CHILDREN OF TODAY BETTER AT READING

CHICAGO.—School children today are better readers than their parents were, according to William S. Gray, professor of education at the University of Chicago.

"A recent survey in the seventh and eighth grades showed these boys and girls (in Detroit schools) were distinctly superior to students in 1928," the professor added.

Mr. Gray went on to say that teachers of past generations required an intensive type of reading pattern on a given amount of material.

"Today we are asking them to read widely, ingeniously, and for a greater variety of purposes," he said.

Apple Crop This Year Triples 1945 Harvest

HARRISBURG, Aug. 23.—The indicated 1946 Pennsylvania commercial apple crop will be 10 per cent below that of two years ago, the most recent normal apple year, the Department of Agriculture announced following a Federal-State survey as of August 1.

However, this year's crop will be more than three times the size of the 1945 short crop, the records show.

The 1946 harvest of commercial apples in Pennsylvania is expected to total 2,190,000 bushels, which exceeded the 1945 crop by about 5,700,000 bushels. This year's estimated production is only 642,000 bushels below the 10-year average, 1935-1944. Last year's commercial apple crop of 2,470,000 bushels was the smallest in Pennsylvania in 24 years.

Pennsylvania apples attained excellent size under favorable July weather conditions. They improved to such an extent that production estimates were advanced by more than 1,000,000 bushels on August 1, the survey revealed.

Says Taxi Driver Committed Suicide

SCRANTON, Pa., Aug. 23.—(INS)—Lackawanna county coroner Paul E. Kubasek announced today that Angelo Call, who was listed as a murder victim after his death Saturday, had committed suicide.

Call, 27-year-old Dunmore taxi driver and former boxer, died in the Scranton State hospital as a result of two bullet wounds in the head. Kubasek said an investigation disclosed that the weapon belonged to Call and that the former fighter had lost heavily at gambling and was wanted for an assault last Wednesday on Harold O'Brien, of East Orange, N. J.

O'Brien told authorities that Call had slugged and robbed him. Police admitted today that Call had not been robbed as they first suspected, and closed the case.

Call was found beside his wrecked car along a highway near Scranton August 17.

GIRLS IN AUSTRALIA TRAIN FOR AIRLINES

SYDNEY, Australia.—Girls who want to become airline hostesses in Australia are besieging companies with applications, but have to pass stringent tests. "There's more to the job than wearing a glamour uniform and serving refreshments," a company official explains.

They must have a sound education, conversational ability, some nursing experience, a first aid certificate and pleasing appearance. They take a six weeks' training course.

Herman Slated To Boss Pirates

Bill Corum Learns Herman Headed For Pirate Managers Berth

By BILL CORUM
(International News Service Sports Writer)

NEW YORK, Aug. 23.—They tell me that Billy Herman is going to be the next manager of the Pittsburgh Pirates. And if our friend, O. Capt. Kidd Frisch has to walk the plank out there, we couldn't think of a better selection. Billy is a smart baseball man, always wanted to be a manager, rates the chance.

I repeat that I think Frisch has got a dull deal with the Pirates. Particularly this season, when Robert Murphy, the labor organizer, was in the Pirates' clubhouse much of the time, trying to "gild" the lily. When Murphy wasn't there actually, he was in spirit, creating the sort of situation in which it was next to impossible for the team to play winning baseball.

Guild Has Hurt

It probably wouldn't be an exaggeration to say that the Boston union organizer has cost the Bucs 25 ball games. This is not by way of quarreling with the young man. Only a statement of what I sincerely believe to be the fact.

Above everything else baseball is a team game. A game in which spirit and the will to win make the inches and split seconds of difference that mean victory or defeat. Look how the Dodgers are proving that day after day. A bad team can't win consistently when the players are not in the proper frame of mind.

As Frisch was quoted over the radio as wearily saying: "Nobody asks me or my players about the ball games any more, but only about the guild. I'm for labor. But it must be obvious that you can't win ball games in clubhouse debates and elections."

Softball Games, Umpires Tonight

Pottery vs. Spencers at Lehigh field, Vincent and Shafie.

Rangers vs. Forest, at Gaston Park, Campoli and Adams.

Sons Italy vs. Dukes at Marshall field, Riley and Howley.

FAIR OR FOUL

BY LAWTON CARVER

Sports Editor, International News Service

By LAWTON CARVER

(International News Service Sports Writer)

Portland, Ore., Aug. 23.—Jimmy Thomson, a sweet-talking guy who looks like a Georgia Tech fullback, is willing to meet any man, woman or child—race creed or current condition of servitude not barred—in a long driving contest off a golf tee. Any place. Any time.

He looks very much like any other golfer, or athlete, until he hits one off a tee on a long hole. Then he is the Ted Williams and Joe Louis of this game. He is the knocker-out off the tee but none too good a scorer thereafter.

Iron Game Suffers

Thomson is what might be termed a run-of-the-mill tournament golfer on past performances because he has so much power that his short game suffers. He pops in there every once in a while with a win, or a close-up finish.

He happens to be one of those specialists whose forte sometimes defeats him. He has the power, but lacks the finesse. Golf is a game of extreme power and delicate touch.

Thomson has mostly that power power and thus often fails to get on the green and down in winning figures.

But it still goes that no one can hit as far as he—and as long as we are betting on it I will throw my dice in the pot too.

"He's the longest driver in the history of golf."

Best In World

Byron Nelson, standout golfer of these times and a fair hitter off the tees himself, said recently:

"I'd like to see that Thomson in a driving contest against the world and I'd back Thomson".

Thomson has no explanation for his power off the tees. All he knows is that he takes a full windup, lets fly and the ball goes soaring off some incredible distance.

Wins All Contests

He has won nearly every driving contest he has ever entered against the best hitters in golf and once drove the green on San Francisco's Ingleside course on a 40-yard dogleg hole. His drive actually was only about 350 yards because he took a short cut over the trees, but nobody ever before or since dared try that shot.

In case you haven't seen Thomson lately, he is five feet, ten inches tall and weighs about 185 pounds, with a good breadth of shoulder, a short neck and powerful looking arms. In this national professional golf championship tournament he is wearing a bright yellow, white flow-

Margiotti Reveals Stock In Pirates

Attorney Who Figured In Schroeder And Dague Case Here Has Stock

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 23.—(INS)—Baseball fans were speculating today whether former Pennsylvania Attorney General Charles J. Margiotti—a frustrated bidder in the recent sale of the Pittsburgh Pirates—will not wind up as the major stockholder in the club.

The balding, bespectacled criminal attorney disclosed yesterday that he had purchased 11 of the approximate 40 per cent of stock not bought by the financially-strong, four-man syndicate headed by Frank E. McKinney, Indianapolis banker.

McKinney and his associates purchased the Dreyfuss interests in the club two weeks ago, but Margiotti announced he was attempting to buy "all or part of the remaining 29 per cent of outstanding stock" held by private individuals in Pittsburgh and Louisville.

He said he purchased his 11 per cent from four private individuals in Cincinnati.

C.I.O. Maritime Union Calls On Others To Aid

Flying Squads Of Pickets Are Projected To Aid Strikers At Lake Ports

DETROIT, Aug. 23.—(INS)—The CIO-National Maritime Union battened down its hatches today in the Great Lakes strike by calling on other CIO unions to observe pledges of assistance.

Union spokesmen asserted other units of the CIO pledged their "full support" at a closed meeting last night, including financial aid and flying squads for picketing.

An official said Richard Leonard, vice-president of the powerful United Auto Workers, offered the use of UAW flying squads to blockade lake ports with picket lines and that "virtually every CIO unit in the Detroit area pledged its support."

The spokesman declared that the Wayne county CIO council, CIO garment workers, and CIO councils in Buffalo and Chicago had offered aid, including money, and that the steelworkers also had pledged their support.

President Philip Murray of the CIO remained silent on the walkout, however, and CIO steelworkers loaded and unloaded struck ships in Cleveland and other ports.

Another CIO union—the Marine and Shipbuilding Workers of America—unloaded 12,000 tons of steel for automobile from docks at suburban Ecorse while NMU pickets stood idly by.

A Marine official declared the regional office in Cincinnati had ordered its members to "go through picket lines if necessary" to live up to contracts.

Man Is Killed In Auto Collision In Greensburg Area

GREENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 23.—(INS)—One man was killed and a priest was injured today when two cars collided on a highway, 11 miles east of Greensburg.

State police identified the victim as Edward J. Reardon, of Cincinnati. The priest, Rev. Daniel Gallagher, 55, of Lakewood, O., was treated at Latrobe hospital for a fractured leg.

Reardon and Rev. Gallagher had stopped their car, police said, and it was struck in the rear by an automobile driven by John A. Miller, 26, of Latrobe. Authorities said Reardon was standing on the running board at the time.

State To Have Excellent Crop Of Yule Trees

Predict Record Sale Of 2,000,000 Pines In Commonwealth This Christmas

HARRISBURG—(INS)—There will be plenty of Christmas trees for the Yuletide season this year, according to the department of forests and waters.

He explained that the weaving of the pine into wreaths has become a source of material income for residents of northeastern Pennsylvania. He said it was a popular industry for residents along the Lehigh river areas in southern Lackawanna county.

Christmas trees imported into the state were usually cut in October and shipped late in November. Kell said Mistletoe and holly, which grow in the south, was expected to reach Pennsylvania markets late in November.

Pennsylvanians searching for Christmas trees were reminded that trees on privately owned woodlands might result in fines.

AUTOIST DIES, TWO INJURED, IN CAR PLUNGE

SALEM, O., Aug. 22, died yesterday of injuries suffered when his automobile ripped off 75 feet of guard rail and plunged over a 20-foot embankment after he lost control of the car on state highway 14, near here.

As result of the accident, two passengers, Bruce Herron, and Francis Lukas, 17, were in critical condition.
